About the Contributors

Mihai Mieila, PhD, is associate professor at Department of Accounting, Finance and Banks, Faculty of Economic Sciences from “Valahia” University of Targoviste. Regarding his education, he holds a PhD in Investments Management granted by Bucharest Academy of Economic Studies in 2007, is MBA graduated of Conservatoire National des Arts & Métiers Paris in 2004, and MA in Financial and Insurances Management at “Valahia” University of Targoviste (2001). He is member of Editorial Boards of: International Journal of Sustainable Economies Management (USA); Supply Chain Management Journal; Valahian Journal of Economic Studies; and Revue Valaque des Études Économiques. He is member of scientific organizations: CEDIMES Institute in Paris, European Association of Agricultural Economists in Hague (2008), and founder member of The Balkan Scientific Association of Agrarian Economists (Serbia, 2007). His area of expertise is investments management and econometrics where he published five books, journal articles (over 20), and conference presentations and deployed teaching missions within the European Program Erasmus.

* * *

Corina Ene currently holds the position of PhD Associate Professor at the Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti (Romania), Faculty of Economics, within the Business Administration Department. Her actual occupational field is: Education, Teaching and Research. Corina Ene graduated in 1998 as a Bachelor of Economic Sciences at Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti, in the field of Science of Commodities. In 1999 she became a Bachelor of Advanced Studies in Quality Management, at Bucharest University of Economic Studies. In 2006 she obtained the Academic title of Doctor in Economics (Science of Commodities) at Bucharest University of Economic Studies. The doctoral dissertation topic was: “The impact of food security in the elaboration of nutrition and food policies”. During the last years, she attended several training courses in different areas of interest. Her work experience derives from and includes: teaching courses and seminars; co-coordinating students’ graduation papers; research activities; participating in scientific conferences; participating as editor of a scientific publication included in relevant international databases; reviewer for several international scientific journals and conferences. Regarding research activities, these are represented by publishing over 30 scientific papers in the field of interest: science of commodities, consumer protection; 4 books – three as co-author; two as single author; and participating in over 10 national and international scientific conferences.
About the Contributors

Farnaz Ghazi Nezami is an Assistant Professor in the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department at Kettering University, Flint, MI. She holds a Ph.D. in Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering from Wichita State University, KS. She is a Certified Six Sigma Green Belt (CSSGB) from the American Society for Quality (ASQ) and has received the Industrial Assessment certification from the Department of Energy (DOE). Her research interests include sustainability, applied optimization, operations management, energy efficiency, and engineering education.

Ali Ghazinezami is a PhD student in Mechanical Engineering at Wichita State University. Research interests include Sustainability, Composite/Nanocomposite, Design, manufacturing, testing of composites and nanocomposites, and Numerical and analytical modeling of composites and nanocomposites.

Ileana Georgiana Gheorghe holds the position of Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration, Faculty of Economics, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti Romania. She obtained a Ph.D. in Economics from Bucharest University of Economic Studies. She has published about 50 international papers in outstanding journals (h-index 8), 3 book chapters in an edited book and 2 authored books, being interested in Human Resources Management, Green Economics, and Social Responsibility. She also participated in research projects in the field Human Resources Development.

Maria-Luiza Hrestic is lecturer at the Faculty of Sciences and Engineering from “Valahia” University of Târgovişte – Romania. She holds a Ph.D in Law, specialized in General Theory of Law, grated by the Institute of Legal Researches “Acad. Andrei Rădulescu” from the Romanian Academy of Bucharest, in 2011. Also she deployed post-doctoral research at the same institution, where she gradu-ated in 2015. During her post-doctoral studies, two of her articles, entitled: “The Value of Interpretation in Law” and “Specific features of the interpretation of law” were awarded by the Romanian Academy in Bucharest. During the Bachelor studies (2004-2005), based on a national copmetition she earned a scholarship granted by the Romanian Government (the National Office of Scholarships for Studies Abroad) at the Lausanne University – Switzerland, where she got a “Diploma of Advanced Studies in European Law and International Economic Law”. She is a member of: the Centre for Researches in Social Sciences within “Valahia” University of Târgoviște; the “Romanian Society of European Law”; the “Romanian Association of Penal Sciences”; “Centre d’Etudes du Développement International et des Mouvements Economiques et Sociaux» – CEDIMES – France; the “Dâmboviţa Legal Advisers College”. She wrote 3 books (two as single author and one as co-author) and she has 57 articles/studies (as single author and co-author) published in ISI Journals, journals with recognized prestige in legal sciences or journals indexed in recognized international data bases.

Silvia Elena Iacob (born in 22 January 1985 in Targoviste) is Associate Professor at Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Faculty Theoretical and Applied Economics, Chair of Communication and Economic Doctrines. She took her BS in Economy and Economic Communication, Faculty of General Economy, Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, in 2007. She also took her BS in Economic, Management juridique, Management financier, Diagnostic economique et financier, Communication, Analyse de gestion (Economy, Juridical management, Financial management, Economic and financial diagnosis, Communication, Administration analysis) at Universite d’Auvergne Clermont Ferrand, Institut Universitaire Professionnalisé, France, where she graduated: Duma 1, Duma 2, Licence, Master I, Master II Specialization: Management and corporate management in 2008. She holds PhD in Economic sciences at Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest in 2011. Iacob Silvia Elena finished Postdoctoral Studies in Economic Sciences at Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest in 2015. She is also a member of following professional associations: AIELF (International Association of Economists of Francaises Languages), CEDIMES (Development Centre International and Economic and Social Movements, Franta), ARSR (ROMANIAN ASSOCIATION OF REGIONAL SCIENCE), ERSA (European Regional Science Association) and RSAI (Regional Science Association International). Her area of expertise is economics, communication and sustainable development where she published books (5), Journal articles (60) and presentations by national and international conferences.

Krishna Krishnan is a professor of the Industrial & Manufacturing Engineering Department at Wichita State University. His research is the area of manufacturing systems. He primarily works in facilities planning, supply chain systems, production planning and integrated manufacturing systems.
About the Contributors

Mirela Matei currently holds the position of PhD Associate Professor at the Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti (Romania), Faculty of Economics, within the Cybernetics, Computer Science Economy, Finance and Accounting Department. Her actual occupational field is: Education, Teaching and Research. From 2012, she is the vice dean of Faculty of Economics. Mirela Panait graduated in 1996 as a Bachelor of Economic Sciences at Bucharest University of Economic Studies, in field of International Business and Economics. In 2004, she obtained the Academic title of Doctor in Economics at Romanian Academy. The title of doctoral thesis was “The role of foreign investment in Romanian transition economy”. In 2013, she completed postdoctoral studies at Romanian Academy. The postdoctoral dissertation topic was: “Social responsibility of corporations and institutions and Romanian sustainable development”. Her work experience derives from and includes: teaching courses and seminars; co-coordinating students’ graduation papers; research activities; participating in scientific conferences; reviewer for several international scientific journals and conferences. Regarding research activities, these are represented by publishing seven books and over 90 scientific papers in the field of interest: foreign investment, capital market, social responsibility and sustainable development.

Nabila Nisha is currently teaching as a Senior Lecturer at the Department of Accounting & Finance under School of Business and Economics of North South University. She completed her Bachelor’s degree with dual concentration in Accounting & Finance and Marketing from North South University, Bangladesh. She received her Master’s degree in Banking & Finance from University of Essex, UK. Besides teaching, she has been part of a research project on Green Banking financed by World Bank and Ministry of Education of Bangladesh. Her research interests include technology acceptance models, banking sector, accounting disclosures, empirical research methods in finance and business case studies. She has a number of international journal publications in USA, UK and India, along with local and international book chapters as part of her research work. She has authored two books as well, which have been published by Lambert Academic Publishing and are available in the international market.

Contanta Popescu graduated in Management and holds a Postgraduate Degree from Bucharest University of Economic Studies. Also, she holds a Executive Diploma in Management at Conservatoire National des Arts et Métiers in Paris and a PhD in Management at Dunarea de Jos University of Galati. Currently she is Full Professor and PhD conductor in Management at the Valahia University of Targoviste. She deployed a remarkable publishing activity, with eighteen books and book chapters in Romania and abroad; more than 140 scientific articles in press; over 120 papers presentations at internal and international scientific events (in: France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Poland, Great Britain, Lithuania, Croatia, Macedonia, Serbia, Slovakia, Egypt, Tunisia, Algeria, USA, and Canada); in 27 research projects (national and international) she has been director, coordinator, expert and research team member. She is a member of: CEDIMES Institute and l’Association Internationale des Economistes de Langue Française (AIELF) in Paris; The Romanain Association of Faculties in Economics; and of the Center of Applied Researches and Studies in Management and Marketing from the “Valahia” University of Târgoviște.
About the Contributors

Constantin Popescu graduated in Forestry Engineering from Transylvania University of Brasov – Faculty of Forestry and Forest Engineering. He holds a Ph.D in the field Sylviculture and Forestry Management (Transylvania University of Brasov - 2002). Currently he is Director in Sylviculture Department, and Associate Professor at Valahia University of Targoviste, Romania, having competences such as: Sustainable Development in Forestry, Environment Management, economy of the environmental protection, economy of natural resources, management of protected areas. He published over 50 articles in journals, magazines and volumes resulting from conferences and presented over 45 articles at scientific international conferences in France, Spain, Canada, the U.S.A, Serbia, Poland, Belgium, Croatia and Romania. He is a single-author of three books and co-author of three other. In the same time, he is member in twelve research projects; member of CEDIMES, AIELF and of the Centre for research and expertise of natural resources and environment at “Valahia” University of Targoviste.

Afrin Rifat is a Lecturer of Accounting & Finance at the School of Business of North South University. Since September 2012, Ms. Rifat has been teaching introductory courses of Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting and Cost Accounting at the undergraduate level. Ms. Rifat earned her Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) degree with major in finance and accounting and minor in economics from North South University, Bangladesh and Master’s Degree in Banking and Finance from University of Essex, UK in 2010 and 2011, respectively. Her current research interests include technology acceptance models, accounting policies, financial statement analysis and decision-making, banking strategies, capital market, and empirical research methods in finance and country specific studies.

Ana-Lucia Ristea graduated from the Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Faculty of Commerce, in 1969. In 1987 she graduated her PhD in Economics at the Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest. Currently she is full Professor at “Valahia” University of Targoviste, Faculty of Economic Sciences. Her scientific research activity (starting with 1969 to present) consist in 33 books (as a single-author, co-author or coordinator), courses and monographies, over 100 articles published in specialized journals and/or presented at the international and national scientific conferences, and eight national research projects (as a director and coordinator). She is a member of: CEDIMES, AROMAR and the Center for researches and studies in Management and Marketing, from “Valahia” University of Targoviste.
About the Contributors

Violeta Sima holds the position of Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration, Faculty of Economics, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti Romania. She obtained a Ph.D. in Economic Cybernetics and Statistics from Bucharest University of Economic Studies. She has published about 55 international papers in outstanding journals (h-index 10), 3 book chapters in edited books and 4 authored books. Her research and teaching interests encompass Customer Relationship Management, Marketing Research, Business to Business Marketing, Green Marketing, and Social Responsibility. She has participated in research projects in the field of Marketing and Human Resources Development.

Marian Catalin Voica currently holds the position of Professor Assistant at the Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti (Romania), Faculty of Economics, within the Cybernetics, Computer Science Economy, Finance and Accounting Department. His actual occupational field is: Education, Teaching and Research. Marian Catalin Voica graduated in 2008 as a Bachelor of Economic Sciences at Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti, in the field of Accounting and Management Information Systems. In 2011 he became a Bachelor of Advanced Studies in management and funding of development projects, at the Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti. He obtained the Academic title of Doctor in Economics (Finance) at Bucharest University of Economic Studies. The doctoral dissertation topic was: “The impact of foreign investments on production costs”. During the last year of his doctoral studies he received a scholarship from the European Social Fund through Sectoral Operational Programme Human Resources Development 2007-2013, project number POSDRU/159/1.5/S/134197 “Performance and excellence in doctoral and postdoctoral research in Romanian economics science domain”. His work experience derives from and includes: teaching courses and seminars; research activities; participating in scientific conferences; reviewer for several international scientific journals. Regarding research activities, these are represented by publishing 11 scientific papers in the field of interest: finance, financial markets, sustainable development, green investments and participating in 5 national and international scientific conferences.