About the Contributors

Hans Kaufmann is currently Professor in Marketing in the School of Business of the University of Nicosia after appointments as manager and Professor and course leader of company management at University of Applied Management Studies Mannheim, Germany, consultant and academic in 5 European countries. He was President of CIRCLE (2007-2009) and is currently Vice-President of EMBRI and was a founding member in both institutions. He is a board member of the American Marketing Association Global Marketing SIG. He is member of the editorial board of a variety of journals and an Associate Editor of the World Review of Entrepreneurship, Management and Sustainable Development. He published a large number of journal articles and is author/editor of 8 books (mainly in the field of Consumer Behaviour and Marketing) and 4 Electronic Books (Thompson Reuters accredited conference proceedings). He is Visiting Professor to the International Business School of Vilnius University and an Adjunct Professor of the University of Vitez.

Mohammad Fateh Ali Khan Panni is an Assistant Professor in the School of Business at City University, Bangladesh. He has an MPhil degree (by research) in the area of marketing from Multimedia University, Malaysia. He has published many research articles in the area of consumerism, CRM, CKM, brand loyalty, online shopping behavior, internet banking green consumer behavior index and educational marketing etc. in numerous international journals like JLERI, IJBE, IJECRM, WJBAM, JIKM, IJTEM, Amfiteatru Economic. Currently, he is a research committee member of three different research interest committees such as marketing, ethics and social responsibility and green economy consortium of Euromed Research Business Institute (EMRBI). He is also regularly involved as a track chair of Annual Euromed Conferences. He regularly reviews paper for different international refereed journals and has already served as a reviewer in AJBM, AJAR, WREMSD, IEJBR, AJMM, JIKM etc. He has co-edited two edited reference books-one on customer centric marketing strategies and the other on consumerism (IGI Global Publication). He is an editorial team member of African Journal of Marketing Management (AJMM) (Academic Journal series) and a listed reviewer of Journal of Information and Knowledge Management (JIKM) (World Scientific Publication).

***

Emel Baydan is a graduate student and she is currently working on her Master’s thesis.

Angelo Bonfanti, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor of Business Management at the Department of Business Administration, University of Verona (Italy). He received his Ph.D. from the “Parthenope” University of Naples (Italy) and is a member of the Editorial Review Team of Sinergie Italian Journal of Management. His current research interests include service management and marketing, retail management, higher education, and social entrepreneurship. His publications have appeared in Journal of Services Marketing, Corporate Communication: An International Journal, Management Decision, and The TQM Journal.
About the Contributors

Elena Candelo is an Associate Professor of Strategic Management Elena Candelo, degree in Economics with 110 and Honorable mention – Faculty of Economics, Turin University and PhD in Business Management. She is Associate Professor in Strategic Management at University of Turin – Department of Management. Post graduate course: Marketing Management, Strategic management. Graduate course: Strategies in automotive industry, Multinational companies’ strategies. Degree course: Strategic Management, Marketing. Member of the Research Board - Department of Management. Director and member of the Scientific Committee of several Masters. Recent publication about: branding, corporate social responsibility, marketing. Main Research Areas: strategic management, brand management, corporate social responsibility, management of tourist destinations, automotive industry.

Cecilia Casalegno is a Researcher and Lecturer at the Department of Management, University of Turin. She teaches in Marketing, Communication, Human resource management. She has several publications in marketing and communication. She is visiting professor at Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona and visiting researcher at Darden Business School (Virginia).

Sadullah Çelik is an associate professor in the Department of Economics (Eng.), Marmara University Faculty of Economics, Istanbul, Turkey. He received his BA and MA in Economics from Marmara University Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences, Istanbul, Turkey. He received his PhD in Economics from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, USA. He has authored numerous articles about applied economics, international economics, behavioral economics and consumer sentiment in Turkish and English and co-authored a book about construction industry in Turkey in Turkish and authored two book chapters about consumer confidence. In addition, he has coordinated a project under the authority of Marmara University on day of the week effect in consumer confidence. Furthermore, he has organized the 73rd International Atlantic Economic Conference of the International Atlantic Economic Society. Besides, he has attended several international and national conferences presenting papers, serving as a discussant and chair and organizing invited sessions. Likewise, he has refereed numerous articles for international journals. Moreover, he has served three years as the LLP-Erasmus Coordinator for the Department of Economics, Marmara University Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences. He also supervised several MA theses and PhD dissertations of student from many universities such as Istanbul Bilgi University, Istanbul Commerce University and Marmara University. He has also lectured in many universities as visiting scholar such as Bahcesehir University, Dogus University, Halic University, Istanbul Bilgi University, Istanbul Commerce University and Maltepe University.

Chiara Civera is Research Fellow at the University of Turin, Department of Management and Ph.D. in Business and Management. She has been spending 2 years as visiting researcher at London South Bank University in London (UK) and a semester at Darden Business School, University of Virginia, United States. During the academic career, she has been worked also as business consultant for medium and large companies operating in various sectors, in the UK and in Italy, focusing mainly on business strategy, commercial development and marketing strategy. The main subjects of interest and current researches are: corporate social responsibility, stakeholder theory, marketing, branding, communication, non-profit sector management and fundraising strategies. She is currently lecturer of Marketing Management.

Ileana Georgiana Gheorghe holds the position of Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration, Faculty of Economics, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti Romania. She obtained a Ph.D. in Economics from Bucharest University of Economic Studies. She has published about 50 international papers in outstanding journals (h-index 8), 1 book chapter in an edited book and 2 authored books, being interested in Human Resources Management, Green Economics and Social Responsibility. She also participated in research projects in the field Human Resources Development.

Tomislav Gregur was born on 3rd of March in 1989 in Koprivnica, Croatia. After finishing gymnasium in Koprivnica in 2008, he went to Faculty of Economics & Business on University of Zagreb, Croatia. In 2014, he finished Master degree, majoring in Trade.

Alicia Izquierdo Yusta is an Associate Professor at the Department of Marketing of the University of Burgos (Spain). She has participated in different Conferences and Seminars worldwide and has written several articles in different high standing international journals in different international journals Total Quality Management and Business Excellence; Service Business; Innovar, European Journal of Marketing etc.). Her main research lines are e-commerce, Technologies adaptation, marketing communications, sales promotions and product and services innovation. Member of the following Associations European Marketing Academy (EMAC) and The European Association for Education and Research in Commercial Distribution (EAERCD).

Anne M. Lavack (Ph.D., University of British Columbia) is a retired Professor in the School of Business and Economics at Thompson Rivers University in Kamloops, Canada. She has previously published articles in a variety of journals including Journal of Advertising, Journal of Public Policy and Marketing, and Social Marketing Quarterly.

Sandra Maria Correia Loureiro is Professor of Marketing at the Instituto Universitário de Lisboa ISCTE-IUL and a researcher in the Business Research Unit (BRU/UNIDE) and SOCIUS Research Centers. Her current research interests include consumer-brand relationships, online purchase behaviors, tourism marketing, and corporate social responsibility issues. Her papers have been published in a variety of peer-reviewed journals that include International Journal of Hospitality Management, Journal of Travel and Tourism Marketing, journal of Service Management, Journal of Cleaner Production or Journal of Brand Management. Her work has also been presented at respected international conferences such as EMAC, ANZMAC, and KAMS-GMC. Sandra serves as a reviewer for several international journals and conferences and has participated in several research projects funded by the EU and FCT (Foundation for Science and Technology). She recently won the 2012 Best Paper Premier Award presented by the Global Marketing Conference (comprised of EMAC, ANZMAC, KSMS, and the Japanese Association of Marketing).
About the Contributors

Maria Pilar Martinez Ruiz is an Associate Professor at the Department of Marketing of the University of Castilla-La Mancha (Spain). She has participated in different Conferences and Seminars worldwide and has written several articles in different high standing international journals (e.g., Journal of the Operational Research Society, European Journal of Marketing, The International Journal of Market Research, European Journal of Operational Research, etc.). Her main research lines are retailing, marketing communications, sales promotions and product and services innovation. Member of the following associations: Academy of Marketing Science (AMS), European Marketing Academy (EMAC) and The European Association for Education and Research in Commercial Distribution (EAERCD). She was co-track chair of the Pricing and Retailing Track at the 75 editions of the Summer’s Educators AMA Conference (celebrated in 2012 in Chicago).

Michael D. Myers is Professor of Information Systems and Head of the Department of Information Systems and Operations Management at the University of Auckland Business School. His research focuses on the relationship between IT and people in an organizational context, and how this context can be studied. He has published 24 articles in A* journals as ranked by the Australian Business Deans’ Council. Michael won the Best Paper award (with Heinz Klein) for the most outstanding paper published in MIS Quarterly in 1999. This paper has been cited over 4000 times. He also won the Best Paper Award (with Lynda Harvey) for the best paper published in Information Technology & People in 1997 and the Emerald Literati Network Outstanding Paper Award 2012 (with Michelle Soakell) for the most outstanding paper published in VINE in 2011. He previously served as Senior Editor of MIS Quarterly from 2001-2005, as Senior Editor of Information Systems Research from 2008-2010, and currently serves as Senior Editor of Information & Organization and Pacific Asia Journal of the AIS. He also served as President of the Association for Information Systems (AIS) in 2006-2007 and as Chair of the International Federation of Information Processing (IFIP) Working Group 8.2 from 2006-2008. Michael is a Fellow of the Association for Information Systems.

Petra Nylund is an Assistant Professor at the University of Vic. She has a Ph.D. in Management from IESE and an M.Sc. in Engineering and Business Management from KTH, Stockholm. Her research and teaching focus on different aspects of innovation, knowledge, and strategy. She is currently enthusiastic about the development of innovation ecosystems. Prior to joining academia Dr. Nylund worked as a corporate development manager and business consultant in Africa, Latin America, and in Europe.

Ioanna Papasolomou is a Professor and the Head of the Department of Marketing, School of Business Administration, at the University of Nicosia in Cyprus. She has contributed papers to a number of international conferences and journals such as the Journal of Marketing Management, Marketing Intelligence and Planning, Journal of Brand Management, Journal of Product and Brand Management, and the Journal of Marketing Communications. She has also contributed chapters and case studies to several academic books. She is a reviewer for a number of academic journals such as the Journal of Marketing Communications, International Journal of Corporate Communications, the International Journal of Social Responsibility, and Euro Mediterranean Journal in Business.

Sanda Renko, PhD is a Full Professor at Trade Department at Faculty of Economics and Business, University of Zagreb, Croatia. She is the coordinator for several courses: retailing and wholesaling, Business logistics, Fashion retailing, services in retailing, benchmarking, category management, etc.
She has published chapters in book and scientific journals in the area of her interest, such as the British Food Journal, Journal of Food Products Marketing, Journal of Retailing and Consumer Services, Business Excellence, etc. She is the guest editor for the British Food Journal, Journal of Food Products Marketing, etc.

Asher Rospigliosi is a principal lecturer in digital marketing, e-business and management information systems. He currently conducts research into social media and graduate employability. He has a substantial and successful commercial track record in the development and management of online systems for commerce and education, including the PPAi award winning Gamespot UK. His areas of specialist interest include big data and the impact of CMC (particularly Internet based communication) on society, business, organisations, planning, learning, employment and knowledge.

Irene Samanta is an Assistant Professor of International Marketing at Piraeus University of Applied Sciences. Dr. Samanta, after her basic studies in Business Administration, she continues her Post Graduate studies in University of Paisley (U.K.) where she obtains an M.Sc. in International Marketing. She has been completed her Academic studies with Ph.D. from University of the West of Scotland (U.K.). She is author of several research papers published in international journals. She is co-author of six books as well as editor of chapter books, a monograph and working papers.

Violeta Sima holds the position of Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration, Faculty of Economics, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploieşti Romania. She obtained a Ph.D. in Economic Cybernetics and Statistics from Bucharest University of Economic Studies. She has published about 55 international papers in outstanding journals (h-index 10), four book chapters in edited books and 4 authored books. Her research and teaching interests encompass Customer Relationship Management, Marketing Research, Business to Business Marketing, Green Marketing and Social Responsibility. She has participated in research projects in the field of Marketing and Human Resources Development.

Özlem Taşseven is an Associate Professor of Quantitative Methods at Dogus University Department of Economics and Finance, Istanbul-Turkey. Dr. Ozlem has a BS in Statistics from Middle East University (1995), a Master degree in Economics from Middle East University (2000) and a PhD in Economics from Newcastle University in United Kingdom. Her research interests lie in econometric analyses including time series, panel data analyses, applied macroeconomics and finance, statistics. She has taught Statistics, economics, econometrics and research methods courses, among others, at both graduate and undergraduate levels. She is in the editorial board of Dogus University Journal, Banking and Finance Letters Journal.

Tuure Tuunanen is a professor in the Department of Computer Science and Information Systems at the University of Jyväskylä. He is also a global faculty fellow of the Center for Service Leadership at Arizona State University. He holds a DSc (Econ) from the Helsinki School of Economics. His research has been in the cross-sections of information systems, software engineering, and marketing science and is interested in multi-disciplinary research in the area of service innovation. His current research interests lie in the areas of information systems development methods and processes, service engineering, and IT enabled services. More about his research can be found at http://www.tuunanen.fi.
About the Contributors

Eric Viardot is Director of the Global Innovation Management Centre and permanent professor of marketing and strategy at EADA Business School in Barcelona. He has a doctorate in management. He is a graduate of the HEC Business School, Paris, and the Institute of Political Sciences, Paris. He has been working in different marketing positions for Hewlett-Packard in France, Canada and the US Eric. He was then a financial director for a large international NGO in Asia and Central America. After that, he joined Bain and Company as a senior consultant and had numerous assignments in Europe including a large international retail company. Eric Viardot has published various books and articles on strategic management and marketing. He is currently the co-editor of the International Journal of Technology Marketing and a member of the editorial board of Technovation. Eric Viardot teaches regularly in executive programs in Europe. He is an active consultant and trainer and has worked with several major multinational corporations.

Lisa Watson (Ph.D., Bond University) is an Associate Professor in the Paul J. Hill School of Business at the University of Regina in Regina, Canada. She has previously published articles in a variety of journals including Social Marketing Quarterly, Canadian Public Policy, and European Journal of Marketing.

Dursun Yener had PhD degree in Marmara Univesity, Turkey on Production Management and Marketing. His research area is consumer behaviour and marketing theory. He has many research papers published in national and international journals. He works in Management Department at Istanbul Medeniyet University since 2015.

Ana Zarco is an Associate Professor of Innovation and Marketing, Economics and Business Department, Universitat Oberta de Catalunya (UOC). Part-time professor at ICADE. Pontificia of Comillas University PhD in Economics and Business Sciences from the University of Castilla-la Mancha, Spain. Post degree in Building Models in Ecology and Natural Resources Management from Politecnica University of Catalonia. Until 2002, She carried out her teaching and research activities in the Marketing Area of the University of Castilla la Mancha, and during short periods in East Anglia University, Brighton University (U.K) and Chapingo University (Mexico). From 2003 to 2006 she has been a codirector of the Master’s Degree Programme in Marketing and Communication Management, and from 2006 to 2012 she was served as Programme Director of the Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration at UOC. As a researcher, her main areas of research interest concern product innovation, brand image and identity and marketing/e-learning interface. She is author of several books and articles on these areas, and serve as a reviewer and associated editor of several international journals in the marketing area.