About the Contributors

Adeyinka Tella is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Science, Faculty of Communication and Information Sciences, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Tella is a Commonwealth Scholar who finished his PhD in September 2009 from the Department of Library and Information Studies; University of Botswana where he was awarded small grant for thesis writing for the PhD category in 2007 by the Council of Development in Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA). He has written and published articles mostly in internationally reputable, refereed journals, together with chapters in books. He is one of the contributors to an information science reference “Cases on Successful E-learning Practices in the Developed and Developing World: Methods for the Global Information Economy.” Currently, he is the Associate Editor International Journal of Library and Information Science, and Editor-in-Chief- International Journal of Information Processing and Communication. He is also editorial board member, for Library Philosophy and Practice. Tella is an external examiner for Library and Information Science PhD candidates at Annamalai University and Bharathidasan University, Trichy, both in India. His re-search areas include e-learning, information literacy, information communication technology and management, information system evaluation, and psychology of information.

Abdulwahab Olanrewaju Issa holds DLS (1987), BLS (1991), and MLS (1996) Degrees from the Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, and a PhD from the University of Ibadan (2007). He has taught in different library schools in Nigeria since 1992, including the Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria; the Federal Polytechnic, Offa; Tai Solarin University of Education, Ijebu-Ode; Kwara State University, Malete, and is currently, Senior Lecturer at University of Ilorin. He has also been an ex-Head of a LIS Department, ex-Director, Centre for Continuing Education and ex-Chief Lecturer, Federal Polytechnic, Offa, Kwara State, Nigeria, Issa was once Vice-Chairman and now Chairman, Nigerian Library Association, Kwara State Chapter, and thus, a National Council member of NLA.

* * *

Titilola A. B. Abdul-Salam was born 44 years ago at Ilorin, Kwara state of Nigeria. She graduated with Bachelor of Arts in Education degree from University of Ilorin in 1994. She got Master’s in Library and Information Science from International Islamic University Malaysia in 1997. She is presently a Librarian II at University of Ilorin library. Her research interests are in the area of cataloguing, digital library, and library education.
Lydia O. Adedibu was born in Ogbomoso, Oyo state Nigeria in 1950. She attended Morehead State University, Kentucky, USA and got her Bachelor of Arts degree in Library Studies and Sociology in 1970. She got her Master’s degree in Library Studies from University of Ibadan in 1985. She joined the service of the University of Ilorin in 1978. At the University Library, she has worked in various departments such as circulation, cataloguing, and acquisition. Currently, she is a principal Librarian and the head of technical services division. In academics, she has written fifteen articles published in reputable local, national, and international journals. She also has published bibliographies and chapters in books. She has attended many professional conferences, workshops, and seminars by the Nigerian Library Association. She has served on many committees and boards of the University. Her research interests are in the area of cataloguing and Library Management.

Niran Adetoro is currently a Senior Lecturer and Head, Department of Library and Information Science, Tai Solarin University of Education. Nigeria. He holds a Dip.Lib., B.Ed., MLS, and PhD Degrees from the University of Ibadan, Nigeria. Dr. Adetoro is a Chartered Librarian with over fifteen years experience in academic libraries, and he is an Associate Member of the Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals (CILIP). Dr. Adetoro has taught students at all levels in three Universities in Nigeria. His research interests include Information Technology and Management, Information Services to the Visually Impaired, and Psychology of Information.

Lenrie Olatokunbo Aina is a Professor of Library and Information Science at the University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Professor Aina holds BSc (Hons) in Chemistry, Postgraduate Diploma in Librarianship, M.Phil Information Science, and PhD Library Studies. He is currently the President, Nigeria Library Association, Dean of the Faculty of Communication and Information Sciences, and Head of the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Professor Aina has published extensively. He has edited two books: “Research in Information Sciences: An African Perspective” and “Agricultural Information in Africa,” and two reference sources “Who is Who in Library” and “Information Science Institutions in Africa.” He is the editor-in-chief of the African Journal of Library Archives and Information Science. Professor Aina has served as external examiner in fifteen universities in Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, Sierra-Leone, South-Africa, Tanzania, and Zambia.

Evelyn O. Akinboro was born 54 years ago at Owo, Ondo state of Nigeria. She graduated with Bachelor of Arts degree from University of Ife (now Obafemi Awolowo University) in 1975. She got Master’s and PhD in Library Studies from University of Ibadan in 1981 and 2006, respectively. She worked in the Library of National Cereals Research Institute, Moor Plantation Ibadan. Presently, she is a Senior Librarian in the university library. She has worked in several units of the library, but now the chief cataloguer. She has attended many professional conferences, workshops, and seminars by the Nigerian Library Association. She has many journal publications to her credit. She has served on many committees and boards of the university. Her research interests are in the area of cataloguing, Grey literature, and information literacy.

Ayodele John Alonge holds Nigeria Certificate in Education (English/Pol.sc), a Bachelor Degree in Library, Archival & Information Studies (BLIS), and Master’s in Publishing & Copyright Studies (MPCS) from the University of Ibadan, Nigeria. He works as a Librarian with KPMG Professional Services,
Nigerian member firm of KPMG International. He is a Freelance Consultant with Optimistic-Concept Library & Information Consulting (OLIC), an organisation whose focus is to revitalize Library Services in Nigeria. He is a member of Nigerian Library Association (NLA) and an Associate of Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals (CILIP), United Kingdom. He is the winner of NLA’s Dr. James O. Daniel Award for the most Innovative Library-Based ICT Project of the Year 2009 for his explore on application Social Media in Librarianship. He is a PhD, student at the University of Ibadan working on social media and information literacy. He lives in Lagos, Nigeria.

Mehtab Alam Ansari holds BSc, MA, MLISc., M. Phil., & two PhD degrees and is presently working as an Asst. Professor in the Department of Library & Information Science, AMU, Aligarh (India). Dr. Alam has authored two books and also contributed several articles in various national and international journals, books, and magazines. Previously working as Assistant Librarian in Dr. Zakir Husain Library, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi, Dr. Mehtab has also been associated with internationally reputed companies such as VTLS, Softlink, and LibSys in different capacities. As an employee of VTLS, Dr. Mehtab has also received advanced level training on Virtua software at Blacksburg, USA. His area of interest includes library automation, digital library, and application of IT in libraries.

Fatai A. Aremu teaches in the Department of Political Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. He holds a Ph.D. in Asia Pacific Studies from the Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University (Japan) where he was awarded a “Certificate of Merit for Outstanding Quality of Dissertation.” His research focus covers international political economy, comparative foreign policy analysis, Asia-Pacific, and development studies. He is the author of Asymmetrical Foreign Policy Behaviour of Japan and China (2011). He is co-editor (with H. A. Salih) of Introduction to International Relations (2011) and Theories of International Relations (2011). His works have appeared in several reputable journals including African and Asian Studies (Leiden, Netherlands), Ritsumeikan Journal of Asia Pacific Studies (Japan) and Asia Pacific World (USA), and Nigerian Journal of International Affairs, among others.

M. T. Bashorun is a Lecturer with the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. He holds BSc in Biology/Education from Obafemi Awolowo University, Master of Library and Information Studies, University of Ibadan. He previously worked as Education Officer II with the Civil Service Commission, Oyo State Government and Business Development Manager with the Nigerian Bottling Company, Nigeria.

James Henri is School Library and Reading Project Consultant to the Chen Yet-Sen Family Foundation, Hong Kong.

Alan Hopkison is Technical Manager at Middlesex University Library Services. He has worked extensively in developing countries and with UN agencies focussed on development issues and have worked with CDS/ISIS, UNESCO’s information retrieval package for which he was the UK distributor in an earlier post of Information Systems Manager at the Institute of Development Studies at the University of Sussex. He is currently leading a European Union TEMPUS project with four European Departments of Library Science and Archival Studies to modernise librarians’ education in Armenia,
About the Contributors

Georgia, and Uzbekistan. He is the Chairman of the UDC Consortium and Chairman of IFLA’s Permanent UNIMARC Committee.

Abdulmumin Isah is a Lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. He holds Diploma in Library Science, Bachelor of Library and Information Science, and Master’s of Library and Information Studies. He has previously worked as Graduate Research Assistant on World Bank Research Project at the University of Lagos, Nigeria and College Librarian at the Nigerian Television College, Jos. He is a member of professional associations such as Nigerian Library Association (NLA) and the Association of Nigerian Authors (ANA).

Christine Wamunyima Kayengo is a Deputy University Librarian at the University of Zambia Library. She has worked for the University of Zambia library system since 1991 in various capacities. She holds a Bachelor of Arts with Library Studies from the University of Zambia and Master’s in Library and Information Science from the University of Cape Town, South Africa.

Henry N. Kemoni is currently Senior Lecturer and HOD, Library, Records Management and Information Studies, School of Information Sciences, Moi University, Kenya. In May 2011, he was appointed Associate Professor, Department of Library and Information Studies, The Kenya Polytechnic University College, University of Nairobi. He possesses PhD (Information Studies) University of KwaZulu-Natal (2007), Master of Philosophy in Information Sciences (LIS), Moi University (2002), Postgraduate Diploma (Archival Studies) National Archives of India (1991) and Bachelor of Arts (Hons.) History and Political Science, University of Nairobi (1987). He has over 19 years of university teaching and research experience. He serves as external examiner, Makere University, University of Botswana, University of Johannesburg, and Kisii University College, Egerton University. He has published several articles in refereed journals. He serves as member of Editorial Board, East African Journal of Information Sciences, ESARBICA, and Mousaion. He was instrumental in the developing and launching of Master’s programme in Records and Archives Management at Moi University, Kenya. His research interests include: records management, archiving, research methodology, knowledge management, and education and training in Information sciences.

Elisam Magara holds a PhD (Information Science), Master of Science in Information Science (MSc. Inf. Sc.), and Postgraduate Diploma in Computer Science (PGD Comp. Sc and Bachelor of Library & Information Sc. (BLIS). He has served in different capacities as current Professor and former Director of the East African School of Library and Information Science, Makerere University and former President, Uganda Library and Information Association, from 1999 to June 2008 and Committee on Legal Matters (CLM) of the International Federation of Library Association and Institutions (IFLA), 2003-2007. He is a Committee Member on Information and Communication, Uganda National Commission for UNESCO, 2009-date and Board Secretary, National Book Trust of Uganda (NABOTU).

Khalid Mahmood started his career as a College Librarian. He is now Professor at the Department of LIS, University of the Punjab. He did his Master (1989), PhD (2004), and Post Doc (2011) in LIS. He is author of more than 100 research publications published in national and international journals of repute. He has contributed four books. He is editor of three journals and member of editorial boards of four international journals. He has attended more than eighty workshops, conferences, and seminars as a resource person and/or participant. His research interests include use of ICT, Bibliometrics, Library technical services, and LIS education.

Stephen M. Mutula is a Prof. in the Department of Library and Information Studies, University of Kwazulu Natal, South Africa. He is the author of “Digital Economies: SMES & E-readiness.” He is also the first co-author of a book titled: “Web information management: A cross disciplinary textbook.” He is the co-editor of “Information and Knowledge Management in the Digital Age: Concepts, Technologies and African Perspectives.” He is the recipient of three professional excellence awards from the Emerald Literati Club (UK) in 2002 and twice in 2005; IFLA award recipient for a portfolio developed on information literacy in 2007. He was the researcher of the year at the University of Botswana in 2007 and 2008. He is an Honorary Research Fellow at the Department of Information Science, University of Zululand, South Africa. He researches in the areas of information society, e-government, digital divide, and development informatics.

Cathrine Nengomasha is a Senior Lecturer and Head of the Department of Information and Communication Studies at the University of Namibia. She has experience in managing records and information spanning over 20 years. Prior to joining the University of Namibia in 2001, she worked for the National Archives of Zimbabwe and Botswana National Archives. Both institutions have a mandate to provide a records management service to their respective public service, which she actively participated in, advising Ministries and Departments on how to benefit from the knowledge contained in their records through effective and efficient records management. She has conducted extensive records surveys in the Namibian public service and consultancy work revamping records management systems. She holds a PhD in Information Science and her dissertation was on electronic records and e-government in Namibia.

Monday Obaidjevwe Ogbomo is a Lecturer, Department of Library and Information Science, Delta State University, Abraka, Nigeria. He holds a BSc in Library Science from the University of Nigeria, Nsukka, and MLS and M.Inf.Sc from the University of Ibadan, Nigeria. He is a doctoral student at the University of Ibadan. He has taught several courses in library and information science at the undergraduate level. His research interests include open access institutional repository, marketing of information services, and scholarly electronic publication (e-resources) use.

Sylvia Ogola is currently the acting University Librarian, Maseno University. She is the former acting Director, British Council, Kisumu 1996–1999. Sylvia has been working in Maseno University for the past 12 years as a Librarian and has been the Acting Librarian since the year 2009. She studied the Bachelors degree in Education from 1986 to 1989 at Kenyatta University, Kenya. She attended Loughborough University, UK for a Master’s degree in Information and Library Studies and graduated in 1995. She lives in Kisumu, Kenya with husband and two sons.

Rachel Ronke Ojo holds a BA Ed. (Hons) in Education/English (with Linguistics as minor) from the University of Ilorin, Nigeria. She also has Master’s and PhD degrees in Library and Information Studies both from the University of Botswana, Gaborone. The focus of her PhD degree is IT Acceptance and Use for Knowledge Management in Botswana Law Organisations. Her teaching experience in Nigeria includes that of being an educator in a High School, teaching English Language and Literature in English for a number of years, as well as a tutor in a College of Education. She also worked as a Librarian for some years in Gaborone, Botswana before moving to South Africa.

Gbola Olasina is a Lecturer in the Department of Library & Information Science, Faculty of Communication & Information Sciences, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. He had worked as Systems Librarian at the University Library of Ladoke Akintola University of Technology (LAUTECH), Ogbomoso, Nigeria. He presently teaches IT-based courses at the library school and has his research interests in e-parliaments, e-governance, systems librarianship and DLs. He is a member of Nigerian Library Association (NLA) and an Associate of Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals (CILIP), United Kingdom. Olasina has authored several works and publications in local and international journals.

K. T. Omopupa holds Bachelor of Arts in Library Science and Master’s in Library and Information Science from Bayero University and the University of Ibadan, respectively. He is currently a Lecturer at the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria.

Edeama O. Onwuchekwa is currently an Academic Librarian at the National Open University of Nigeria, Lagos. She holds a BA (Hons) in Library and Information Science from the University of Nigeria, Nsukka and a Master’s degree in Information Studies from the University of Ghana, Legon. She is a member of the National Library Association of Nigeria and the African Council for Distance Education. Her areas of professional interests include information organisation and retrieval, disaster and risk management of information resources, reference and information services, user education, information literacy, and distance education. Mrs. Onwuchekwa is an adept researcher and has excellent interpersonal relationship with her reading clientele. She has a strong passion to revive the reading culture in children and youths in the developing countries. She is an ardent believer of the maxim that “Books are for Use.” Outside of professional interests, she enjoys reading, writing, and counselling. She also loves spending time with her husband and son.

Japhet Otike is an Associate Professor in the Department of Library, Records Management and Information Studies, School of Information Sciences, Moi University in Eldoret, Kenya. He had his university education at Makerere University in Uganda for undergraduate and Loughborough University in the United Kingdom for postgraduate programmes. He is an accomplished writer. Many of his works have appeared in internationally acclaimed journals. He has played a leadership role in the promotion of the library profession in Kenya. He has attended many national and international conferences in library and related fields. His areas of teaching and research interests are marketing of library services, intellectual property with special reference to copyright, and disaster management in libraries.

Taiwo H. Saka is a Librarian with the University of Ilorin Central Library. He holds B(LS), PGDSM, and MBA from Bayero University, Kano, Nigeria. He also holds an MLS Degree, which he obtained from the University of Ibadan, Nigeria. He has published a number of articles in reputable local and international journals. He has also attended several conferences. His research interests cover information technology, e-library, and new media techniques.
Ajigboye O. Solomon is currently the Head of Readers’ Services at Centre for Learning Resources at Landmark University, Omu-Aran, Kwara State. He has also worked as Systems Librarian Centre for Learning Resources at Covenant University, Otta, Ogun State.

N. Swaminathan holds Master’s Degrees in Library Science, History, and Sociology. In addition, he also passed the Post graduate Diploma in Business Administration. He has about 23 years of experience as Librarian at the Medical College, International Schools, and IB World Schools. He teaches the Theory of Knowledge to the IB Diploma students and supervises extended essays in both Economics and Business Management. He is a life member of the Indian Library Association. He has attended many conferences on Library and Information Science around the world. Swami has published more than 25 articles relating to public health AIDS, child labour, domestic violence, and food habits among school children. He also published an article on comprehensive course evaluation and tools assessment in Central Board of Secondary Education Quarterly Bulletin in October-December 2009.

S. Thanuskodi is working as Assistant Professor in Library and Information Science, Directorate of Distance Education, Annamalai University. Earlier he served as Librarian in The Central Law College, Salem from 1995 to 2007. Thanuskodi holds BSc, MA, BEd, M.L.I.S., M.Phil., PhD, and M.L. (International Law and Constitutional Law) Degrees. He is life member of professional bodies such as IIPA, ILA, IASLIC, IATLIS, MALA, SALIS, and SIS. He has contributed more than 30 research papers in Indian and foreign journals. He has also attended and presented several publications in national and international conferences/seminars. His areas of interest include user studies, bibliometrics, and digital libraries.

Midrar Ullah started his career as a Lecturer at Department of LIS, University of Peshawar. He is now working as Librarian and LSO at Army Medical College, a constituent college of National University of Sciences and Technology (NUST), Pakistan. He has received MLIS (1994) and M. Phil. (2011) degrees in LIS. He has more than 15 years of experience of librarianship. He is author of 10 research publications. He is member of editorial committee of Pakistan Armed Forces Medical Journal (PAFMJ) as bibliographer. He is also active member of Pakistan Library Association (PLA).

Peter Warning has lectured in Information Management in the Faculty of Education at the University of Hong Kong since 2005. He started his career as an academic librarian in Australia before changing career paths in 1998 to enter academia. In 2006 he became involved as a researcher in a continuing project to encourage adoption of the reading habits by children in rural China. This project has encompassed a large number of schools in a number of Chinese provinces. His other current research interests include: the application of information management to sports, and bibliometrics to sport publications; information and knowledge support for student interns; and issues relating to school libraries and school librarianship. He previously lectured at Temasek Polytechnic in Singapore, and has been visiting Professor and Adjunct Professor at the Graduate Institute of Library & Information Studies at the National Taiwan Normal University. He is currently a PhD candidate at Griffith University in Australia.