About the Editor

Christopher G. Reddick is an Associate Professor and Chair of the Department of Public Administration at the University of Texas at San Antonio, USA. Dr. Reddick’s research and teaching interests are in information technology and public sector organizations. Some of his publications can be found in Government Information Quarterly, Electronic Government, and the International Journal of Electronic Government Research. Dr. Reddick has edited several books on e-government research. He is author of the book Homeland Security Preparedness and Information Systems, which deals with the impact of information technology on homeland security preparedness (IGI-Global). Dr. Reddick recently published the book Public Administration and Information Technology (Jones and Bartlett Learning), which examines the impact of information technology on public sector organization.