About the Contributors

Sushil K. Sharma is currently Associate Dean and Professor of Information Systems and Executive Director of the MBA and Certificate Programs at the Miller College of Business, Ball State University (Muncie, Indiana, USA). He co-edited five books that include the Handbook of Research on Information Assurance and Security and Creating Knowledge-based Healthcare Organizations. He is also the co-editor of the book: Managing E-Business (Heidelberg Press, Australia). Dr. Sharma has authored over 100 refereed research papers in many peer-reviewed national and international MIS and management journals, conferences proceedings and books. He serves on editorial boards of several national and international journals and has also edited special issues. He is the founding Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of E-Adoption. His primary teaching and research interests are in e-commerce, computer-mediated communications, community and social informatics, information systems security, e-government, ERP systems, database management systems, cluster computing, Web services, and knowledge management. He has a wide consulting experience in information systems and e-commerce and he has served as an advisor and consultant to several government and private organizations including projects funded by the World Bank.

* * *

Abdulwasiu Kailani AbdulRahim is a research student in the Department of Computer Science, University of Agriculture, Abeokuta and a senior Staff in The Polytechnic, Ibadan, Oyo State, Nigeria. He obtained a HND in Computer Science from the Kaduna Polytechnic, Kaduna State Nigeria in 2001, PGD in Computer Science in 2010 from the University of Agriculture, Abeokuta and Currently a M. Sc. (Computer Science) Student in the same University. His research interest includes Information Systems, Information Systems Security, Data Mining, Knowledge Discovery, Knowledge-base Systems and Agent-based Systems, Computational Intelligence, Image and Vision Design and Processing, Human Computer Interaction (HCI) and e-Service. He is a member of Nigeria Computer Society. He has Published in reputable local Journals.

Şerife AK works as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Education and Instructional Technology at Adnan Menderes University. She holds a PhD degree in Computer Education and Instructional Technology at Ankara University. Her research interests are instructional design, computer supported education, Problem Based Learning (PBL), educational technology and technology integration into education. Moreover, she has contributed to various projects and researches about integration of ICT into teacher training.
About the Contributors

İbrahim Arpacı graduated from the department of Computer Education and Instructional Technology at Anadolu University with the first rank. He carried out many e-learning projects in the Open Education Faculty at Anadolu University between 2002 and 2005. He received his M.Sc. degree in Information Systems at Middle East Technical University in June 2009. Currently, he works as a research assistant and continues his PHD in the Informatics Institute at Middle East Technical University and performs academic studies in Information Systems, e-learning, e-government, Human Computer Interaction, Acceptance and Adoption of Technology, innovation, and innovation management.

M. Erdal Balaban holds both B.Sc. and M.Sc. in Mathematics from Science Faculty of Hacettepe and master degree at the Computer Science of Bosphorous University. He earned Ph. D. degree at the School of Business Administration at the Istanbul University in 1983. He is also honored member of Istanbul branch of Informatics and Association of Turkey and Mathematicians Association. Currently he is a full professor of School of Business Administration at Istanbul University, Istanbul Turkey.

Kelvin Joseph Bwalya is a final year PhD candidate at the Department of Information and Knowledge Management (University of Johannesburg). He has a Masters in electrical and computer science from Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (KAIST), and Bachelors Degree in electrical engineering from Moscow Power Engineering Technical University. Kelvin has over 40 peer reviewed publications and has presented at over 15 conferences worldwide. His research interests lie in information systems (e-Government, business intelligence, databases, business process modeling, semantic information retrieval and analysis, etc...). Of late, Kelvin has been involved in several consultancies including the following: Lead Consultant for Accreditation of Information Technology (IT) programmes on behalf of the Tertiary Education Council of Botswana; development of a prototype Labour Market Information Systems (LMIS) for the Southern African Development Community (SADC); and development of Information and Communications policy for the Southern Africa Trade Union Coordination Council (SATUCC).

Alina Christova is a fully trained German lawyer with a specialisation in European Union law, international law and East European law and extensive work experience in teaching and e-learning. Currently, she is part of the E-Learning & Training Unit of the Institute for European Studies in Brussels. Previously, she developed and taught for more than four years an online course in East European Law for the Master Programme “East European Studies Online” at the Institute for East European Studies in Berlin, Germany. Moreover, she has worked for the Humboldt University and the European Centre for Comparative Government and Public Policy in Berlin.

Çigdem Arıcıgil Çilan holds B.Sc. in Statistics from Science Faculty of Mimar Sinan University and M.Sc at Marmara University in Econometrics. She earned Ph. D. degree at the School of Business Administration at the Istanbul University in 2004. Currently she is a full associate professor of School of Business Administration at Istanbul University, Istanbul Turkey.

Tanya du Plessis is a lecturer at the Department of Information and Knowledge Management, University of Johannesburg, and specializes in Legal Research Competitive Intelligence tools and techniques and VLE content integration. She is also involved in CI projects of the Centre for Information and Knowledge Management. She holds a D Litt et Phil (Rand Afrikaans University, South Africa), with the focus on information and knowledge management in support of legal research in a digital information environment.

G. Scott Erickson is associate professor and chair of the marketing/law department in the school of business at Ithaca College, Ithaca, NY. He holds a PhD from Lehigh University and masters’ degrees from Thunderbird and SMU. He has published widely on intellectual property, intellectual capital, competitive intelligence, and a number of related topics. His book with Helen Rothberg, From Knowledge to Intelligence, was published by Elsevier in 2005. His consulting work began 25 years ago with Alexander Proudfoot and continues today.

Olusegun Folorunso is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Computer Science, University of Agriculture, Abeokuta. He obtained a B. Sc. degree in Mathematical Science From the University of Agriculture, Abeokuta in 1992, M. Sc. in Computer Science from University of Lagos in 1997 and a Ph. D in Computer Science in 2003 from the University of Agriculture, Abeokuta. His research interest includes Adoption of Information Systems Strategies, Human Computer Interaction (HCI), Knowledge Management, Image Processing, Web Centric Design and processing and Computational Intelligence. He is a member of Nigeria Computer Society and Computer Professional Registration Council of Nigeria. He has Published in reputable international and local Journals.

Tarkan Gürbüz is an instructor at Middle East Technical University, Department of Computer Education and Instructional Technology in Ankara, Turkey. He holds a PhD and MS in Computer Education and Instructional Technology, MBA in International Business, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics. His areas of interest include distance education, e-learning, human computer interaction, knowledge management, and teacher education. He sings as a bas in the Elite Chorus of Polyphonic Choruses Association of Turkey. In his free time he paints and writes.

Elif Kartal Karataş graduated from Istanbul University Mathematics Department in 2008. Same year she become part of Informatics Department in December 2008 as a research asistant. Also she is a master student in Istanbul University Informatics Department.- Istanbul, TURKEY. Her studying areas are Artificial Neural Networks, Software Cost Estimation Techniques, Web Design, Computer Programming Languages and e-learning.

Togan Karatas graduated from Marmara University, Faculty of Economic and Administrative Sciences, Department of Economics in 2008 Next year, he became a part of Marmara University, Faculty of Economic and Administrative Sciences, Department of Economics in March 2009 as a Resarch Assistant. Also he is a master student in Marmara University, Institute of Social Scieces, Economic Theory Subdepartment - İstanbul / TURKEY. His studying areas are Macro Economics, Financial Capital - Rise of Financial Capitalism, Evolution of Capitalism in Turkey and Education Economics.

Farhod Karimov started his academic career at Westminster International University in Tashkent (WIUT), where he has been lecturing on marketing management, marketing research, and creating and delivering customer value. As a guest lecturer he has also been teaching marketing, consumer behavior,
About the Contributors

and pricing strategies in marketing at International Business School in Tashkent. His current scientific research is focused on understanding the impacts of website atmospherics on online consumers’ shop-ing motivations and behavior. The aim of the research is to capture the lessons of successful models for e-businesses serving promising online segment. He is actively involved in studying the role of social media in e-commerce and specifically how it influences the acceptance of online shopping. In addition to his interest in Internet marketing, he also studies entrepreneurial marketing and ICT research in transition economies.

Juha Kettunen is the Rector of the Turku University of Applied Sciences in Finland and Adjunct Professor of the University of Jyväskylä in Finland. He was previously the Director of the Vantaa Institute for Continuing Education of the University of Helsinki and Director of the Advanced Management Education Centre of the University of Jyväskylä. He holds a Ph.D. from the University of Bristol in the UK, a DSc (Economics and Business Administration) from the University of Jyväskylä in Finland and a DSc (Technology) from the University of Oulu in Finland. His interest areas include information systems, quality assurance, knowledge management and strategic management in higher education.

Kurt Komaromi is an Instructor of marketing and integrated marketing communications at Ithaca College. His research focuses on the impact of new media on marketing strategy. Prior to teaching, Kurt had an extensive career in corporate marketing and sales management with companies such as American Hospital Supply, Merck KGaA, and Abbott Laboratories. He maintains a consultancy providing marketing services and sales training to clients across North America. Kurt holds a master’s degree in Communications from Ithaca College along with an undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame.

Malliga Marimuthu, Ph.D., is a senior lecturer at the School of Management, Universiti Sains Malaysia. She was conferred Doctor of Philosophy (management) from the University of Newcastle, Australia in 2008. Her major research interests are in the area of Technology Marketing, Services Marketing, Retailing, Strategic Marketing, Contemporary Marketing, Business Geographical Information Systems and Research Methodology. Her publications have appeared in Journal of Marketing Development and Marketing Studies, and World Academy of Science, Engineering and Technology Journal. She is actively involved in the supervision of PhD and Masters students and currently conducting several research for the obtained grants. She has delivered talks and seminars with a focus on marketing and information technology related issues to several agencies.

Burcu Adıguzel Mercangöz holds B.Sc and M.Sc. in Quantitative Methods of School of Business Administration, Istanbul University. She earned Ph. D. degree at the school of Business Administration at the Istanbul University in 2010. She is Research Assistant at the Istanbul University, School of Transportation & Logistics, Istanbul, Turkey. Currently she is a full assistant professor of School opf Transportation & Logistics at Istanbul University, Istanbul Turkey.

Osman Mohamad, Ph.D. (Strathclyde) lectures in marketing subjects such as Marketing Management, International Marketing, Strategic Marketing, Retailing and Marketing Research at the undergraduate.
At the post-graduate levels he specializes in International Marketing, Strategic Marketing and Advance
About the Contributors

Seminar in Marketing. He has conducted Executive Development Program with a focus on marketing-related courses for both local and multinational companies. His research interests are internationalization of Malaysian firms and the impact of IT on consumption behavior. He has published articles in the Journal of Business Research, Multinational Business Review, Journal of Product and Brand Management, International Journal of Business and Management, International Review of Business Research, Malaysian Management Journal, Asian Academy of Management Journal, and Journal of International Business and Entrepreneurship to name a few. He is actively involved in the supervision of Ph D, DBA and MBA students.

Azizah Omar, Ph.D., is presently an Associate Professor specialising in marketing and wellness management at School of Management, Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM). She has been teaching and supervising undergraduate and postgraduate (MBA, MA, PhD and DBA) students especially in the area of consumer behavior, service quality, green marketing and web-based marketing. She has published her works in various international journals such as South African Journal of Clinical Nutrition; Journal of Telemedicine and Telecare; and Journal of Marketing Development & Competitiveness. She obtained her doctoral of philosophy from Monash University, Melbourne, Australia (2006); Master of Business Administration, Universiti Sains Malaysia (2000), and Bachelor of Health Sciences from Curtin University, Perth, Australia (1996).

Deniz ÖZEN works as a research assistant in the Department of Primary Mathematics Education at Adnan Menderes University. Her research interests are geometry instruction, technology integration into mathematics instruction, Technology, Pedagogy and Content Knowledge (TPACK) model, Dynamic Geometry Environments (DGE) and drama in education. She holds a master’s degree in Department of Primary Mathematics Education. Currently she is doing her PhD in the same field. Furthermore, she has contributed to various youth projects and she researches in different fields related to teaching and learning mathematics.

Nesrin Özsoy works as a full professor in the Department of Secondary Science and Mathematics Education at Adnan Menderes University. Her research interests are Drama in Math Education, Cooperative Learning in Mathematics Education, E-Learning, Origami and Teaching and Learning Mathematics, Effect of Multiple Intelligence Theory and Teaching Mathematics. Her Post. Doc. is in Mathematics Education at Purdue University, US. She gives courses at undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate levels in Mathematics Education. She has conducted some projects with her graduate students.

T. Ramayah has an MBA from Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM). Currently he is a Professor at the School of Management in USM. He teaches mainly courses in Research Methodology and Business Statistics. His publications have appeared in Computers in Human Behavior, Resources Conservation and Recycling, Journal of Educational Technology & Society, Journal of Project Management (JoPM), Construction and Architectural Management (ECAM) and North American Journal of Psychology. Having his contributions in research acknowledged, he is constantly invited to serve on the editorial boards and program committees of several international journals and conferences of repute.
About the Contributors

Chris Rensleigh is a senior professor at the Department of Information and Knowledge Management, University of Johannesburg, and specializes in Internet Information infrastructures and related technologies. He has a PhD in the commerce field specializing in Informatics.

Afzaal H. Seyal, PhD (Lasalle University) is currently working as senior lecturer at Institute of Technology Brunei (University), has more than 23 years of teaching experience in IS/IT and has published over seventy research papers in the proceedings of international conferences and leading IS/IT journals including Journal of Global IT Management, Information and Management, Behaviour and Information Technology, Business Process Management Journal, Electronic Markets, AJIS, Journal of End-user Computing and Journal of Electronic Commerce in Organizations. His research interest includes e-businesses and IT adoption in workplace. He is currently the member of editorial board for BPMJ, AJIS and formerly with JGITM, EJISDC and B& IT.

Fahri Unsal is professor of marketing/international business in the school of business at Ithaca College. He has also taught for Maryland University in Germany and Bilkent University in Turkey during sabbatical years. He has received his PhD from Cornell University and his MS degree from the American University of Beirut. He has widely published on electronic commerce, online trust, file sharing, European Union enlargement, and online education topics.

Yusuf Yılmaz works as a research assistant in the Department of Computer Education and Instructional Technology at Adnan Menderes University. His research interests are mobile and blended learning, e-learning and distance education. He holds a bachelor’s degree in Computer Education and Instructional Technology. Currently he is doing his master’s degree in the same field. He is studying mobile technologies and their impact on education in his master’s thesis. Moreover, he has contributed to various projects and researches in different fields in terms of information technologies, for instance in the fields of science and mathematics.