About the Authors

Rumen Andreev is Head of the Department of Communication Systems and Services in the Institute of Information and Communication Technologies, Bulgarian Academy of Sciences. He received his MSc degree in Automation and holds a PhD in Computer-Aided Design from Technical University of Sofia. He has both research and practical expertise in computer graphics, computer-aided design, human-computer interactions, and enhancement of resources for collaborative, cooperative work, and personalized e-learning. His research has been published in the monograph Graphics Systems: Architecture and Realization (Elsevier) and in international journals including the Computers and Graphics, Computer Graphics Forum, Interacting with Computers, Communication and Cognition. He is a member of the Union of Automation and Informatics, UAI-Bulgaria.

Yuri Pavlov is an Associate Professor in the Institute of Information and Communication Technologies in the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences, Bulgaria. He has received DUES from Paris VI – France, MSc degree in Automation from the Technical University of Sofia, and holds PhDs from the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences. His research has been published in international journals: Proceedings of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences, International Online Journal Bioautomation, European Journal of OR, E-learning III and the Knowledge Society – Belgium, Proceedings in Manufacturing Systems – Romania. He has research and practical expertise in innovative and creative decision-making, optimal control, and control design of complex systems. He is also a member of the International Institute of Informatics and Systemics (IIIS).