About the Contributors

Mehdi Khosrow-Pour (DBA) received his Doctorate in Business Administration from the Nova Southeastern University (FL, USA). Dr. Khosrow-Pour taught undergraduate and graduate information system courses at the Pennsylvania State University – Harrisburg for 20 years where he was the chair of the Information Systems Department for 14 years. He is currently president and publisher of IGI Global, an international academic publishing house with headquarters in Hershey, PA (www.igi-global.com). He also serves as executive director of the Information Resources Management Association (IRMA) (www.irma-international.org) and executive director of the World Forgotten Children’s Foundation (www.world-forgotten-children.org). He is the author/editor of over twenty books in information technology management. He is also the editor-in-chief of the Information Resources Management Journal, the Journal of Cases on Information Technology, the Journal of Electronic Commerce in Organizations and the Journal of Information Technology Research and has authored more than 50 articles published in various conference proceedings and journals.

* * *

Ahu Genis-Gruber got her Bachelor’s Degree from Ankara University, Political Science Faculty, Labor Economics and Industrial Relations Department. She got her MA and PhD degree from Johannes Kepler University, Linz-Austria, International Management Department. Asst. Prof. Dr. Genis-Gruber is currently working at TOBB University of Economics and Technology at Business Administration Department. Her research areas are International Management, Joint Ventures, Cross Cultural Management, Theory of Organization, E-commerce.

Morteza Ghobakhloo is a PhD candidate in the Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering, Universiti Putra Malaysia. He received the MSc degree in industrial engineering from Universiti Putra Malaysia in 2010. He has served as IS/IT consultant in different industries. His research have been published or are under consideration in leading IS and management journals such as ISF, IM&DS, IJESMA, and IJIITDM among others.

Tao Gong, PhD is an assistant professor of economics at University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Dr. Gong teaches courses that include economics, multivariate statistics, and quantitative research methods. Dr. Gong’s research interests include labor economics, organizational behaviors, and leadership studies. Dr. Gong has published several articles on these fields.
Maddy Halbach, PhD is the Academy of Finance Instructor for the Howard County Public School System in Maryland. Dr. Halbach teaches courses that include international finance, accounting, marketing, and economics. Dr. Halbach research interests include the impact of technology, generational differences, and/or immigration/illegal immigration and their affect on leadership development.

Ganesan Kannabiran is the Professor of Information Systems at the Department of Management Studies, National Institute of Technology, Tiruchirappalli, India. Dr. Kannabiran, a former British Council Fellow and a Fulbright Scholar, is engaged in teaching, training, research and consulting in areas like IS, KM and Analytics. His research outputs have been published in journals such as International Journal of Information Management, Supply Chain Management: An International Journal, Information Technology for Development, International Journal of Electronic Government Research, etc.

Makoto Nakayama is an Associate Professor at College of Computing and Digital Media (CDM) in DePaul University. He holds a PhD from University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) and an MBA from University of Texas at Austin. His research interests include online consumer behaviors and decision-making, information quality in marketing channels, and IT skills portfolio management. His papers appeared in Information & Management, Journal of Information Technology, Electronic Markets, Information Systems and e-Business Management, and proceedings of international conferences.

Chorng-Shyong Ong is a professor of Information Management at National Taiwan University (NTU), Taiwan. He holds a master’s degree in management science and policy studies at TSUKUBA University in Japan. He received his PhD in business administration from NTU. His research interests include IS service quality, web-based services, electronic commerce, electronic government and strategic management of e-business. He has published papers in Information and Management, Government Information Quarterly, Technovation, Decision Support Systems, Computers in Human Behavior, Expert Systems with Applications, Journal of Information Management, Journal of Quality, Journal of Management and Systems, NTU Management Review, Sun Yat-Sen Management Review, and other journals.

Mahbubur Rahim, PhD (Melbourne University) is currently a Senior Lecturer at Caulfield School of Information Technology, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia. Rahim has considerable international teaching experience and has published over seventy research papers in conferences and in leading IS/IT journals including Behaviour & Information Technology, Information & Management, IT & People, Journal of Internet Commerce, Information & Software Technology and International Journal of Information Management. His research interest include e-business and IT adoption in organizations. He serves on the review panel for Journal of IT Cases and Application Research.

Afzaal H. Seyal, PhD (Lasalle University) is currently working as Senior Lecturer at Institute of Technology Brunei (University), has more than 24 years of teaching experience in IS/IT and has published over seventy research papers in the proceedings of international conferences and leading IS/IT journals including Journal of Global IT Management, Information & Management, Behaviour and Information Technology, Business Process Management Journal, Electronic Markets, AJIS, Journal of End-user Computing and Journal of Electronic Commerce in Organizations. His research interest includes e-businesses and IT adoption in workplace. He is currently the member of editorial board for BPMJ, AJIS and formely with JGITM, EJISDC and B& IT.
About the Contributors

Srinivasan Sundar is an Assistant Professor at Bharathidasan Institute of Management, Tiruchirappalli. He is a research scholar pursuing the doctoral program at Bharathidasan University in the area of E-business. He has twenty years of industry and teaching experience. He has presented papers at national and international conferences. His research interests are in the area of E-business, Consumer Behavior and Retailing.

Norma G. Sutcliffe is an Associate Professor of Information Systems at DePaul University. She received her Ph.D. from the University of California at Los Angeles. Her current research interests include online comparison shopping decision making, and online global collaborative behavior for large enterprise projects, and IT induced organizational change management. Her research has appeared in Information & Management, Information System and e-Business Management, Electronic Markets, International Journal of Information Systems and Change Management, Journal of Information Systems Education, and other venues.

Bedri Kamil Onur Tas got his BS degree in Management from Bilkent University. He got his MA and Ph.D. in Economics from Boston College. Dr. Bedri Kamil Onur Tas is currently working at TOBB University of Economics and Technology at Department of Economics. His research areas are Applied Macroeconomics, Financial Econometrics, Asset Pricing and Monetary Economics.

Rodney Turner is an honorary associate at the Centre for Organisational and Social Informatics, Monash University, Melbourne Australia. He earned his PhD in the School of Information Management & Systems at Monash University and taught at Victoria University in Melbourne for nearly 20 years. He also holds masters degrees in education and in information technology. His research interests include applying structural modelling in information systems education and other applications.

Yun Wan is an Associate Professor of Computer Information Systems at the University of Houston at Victoria. He received his PhD from the University of Illinois at Chicago. Wan’s current research focuses are B2C electronic commerce, enterprise information system integration, and the design of comparison-shopping and recommendation agents. His edited book on comparison-shopping agents is the first academic book on this topic. His research has appeared at CACM (Communications of the ACM), IEEE Computer, EM (Electronic Markets), IEEE-IC (IEEE Internet Computing), ISeBM (Information Systems and e-Business Management) and JASIST (Journal of the American Society for Information Science and Technology).

Shang-Wei Wang is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Information Management, National Taiwan University. His research interests include electronic government, inter-organizational systems, e-learning, RFID applications and IT-induced organizational change. He has presented papers at HICSS and ACIS and published papers in Government Information Quarterly.