About the Contributors

Patricia Ordóñez de Pablos is a Professor in the Department of Business Administration in the Faculty of Economics and Business of the University of Oviedo, Spain. Her teaching and research interests focus on the areas of strategic management, knowledge management, intellectual capital, organizational learning, human resources management, information technologies, and Semantic Web. She serves as Associate Editor of Behavior and Information Technology. She is author of numerous papers published in leading academic journals such as Computers in Human Behavior, Journal of Knowledge Management, Information Management Systems, International Journal of Technology Management, Journal of Universal Computer Science, etc. She has published books in Springer and IGI Global.

Robert D. Tennyson is Professor of Educational Psychology at the University of Minnesota. He is editor of a professional journal, Computers in Human Behavior. He also serves on editorial boards for seven other peer reviewed journals. His research and publications include topics on problem solving, concept learning, intelligent systems, testing and measurement, instructional design, and advanced learning technologies. He has directed sponsored workshops and advanced study institutes in Germany, Greece, Norway, Spain, and Taiwan. He has authored over 300 journal articles, books, and book chapters.

Jingyuan Zhao is a Research Fellow on the Management of Technology at the Canada Research Chair, University of Québec at Montréal, Canada, and an Associate Professor at School of Management, Beijing Union University, China. Her PhD is in Management Science and Engineering in Chinese Academy of Sciences and University of Science and Technology of China. She completed a Postdoctoral Program in the Technology Economy and Management from Harbin Institute of Technology, China. Dr. Zhao’s expertise is on technological innovation, knowledge management, technology diffusion, organization learning, intellectual capital, industrial cluster. She serves as a Guest Editor for international journals and is an Invited Reviewer for China’ state-run newspaper, West Times, to provide comments on the economy.

Noor Hazlina Ahmad is a senior lecturer at the School of Management USM. She joined the university after completing her PhD at the University of Adelaide, Australia. She is currently a Research Associate of the University of Adelaide Business School and Ngee-Ann Adelaide Education Centre research project that endeavors to investigate the impact of incubators on the development of entrepreneurial competencies.
Maria Assunta Baldini is Ph.D in Management Control at the University of Florence. Her core research focuses on intangible assets, firm valuation, and financial accounting. Lecturer in SME’s valuation and financial accounting.

Giovanni Bronzetti is Associate Professor in Accounting within the University of Calabria. His main research interests are intellectual capital, governance and third sector. On these research themes he has published various journal articles, books, book chapters, and presented papers to International conferences. He is also member of research working group of FEE (European federation of accounting) in Bruxelles.

Chirața Caraiani is Professor at Bucharest University of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania, and has a PhD diploma in Accounting. She has more than twenty years’ teaching and researching activity. The disciplines taught in the field of accounting are: Introduction in Accounting, Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting, Controlling, Accounting for Financial Market, etc. The research interest manifests in managerial accounting, intellectual capital, social and environmental reporting and accounting, sustainable development, accounting education by publishing various theoretical and experimental studies in national and international journals, and by developing national research projects as manager and team member.

Cornelia Dascălu is Professor at Bucharest University of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania, and has a PhD diploma in Accounting. She has a more than twenty years’ teaching and researching activity. The disciplines taught in the field of accounting are: Bank Accounting, Public Accounting, Managerial Accounting, Controlling, Accounting for Financial Market, etc. The research interest manifests in managerial accounting, intellectual capital, social and environmental reporting and accounting, sustainable development, accounting education by publishing various theoretical and experimental studies in national and international journals, and by developing national research projects as manager and team member.

Hasliza Abdul Halim is a senior lecturer at the School of Management, University Sains Malaysia. She joined the university after completing her PhD at the University of Malaya. She has been lecturing for many years on subjects such as Strategic Management, HRM, Management, organisational Behaviour, Communication, and others. Her PhD concentrated on utilizing and delivering the human resource activities through outsourcing. Besides, the roles of Business and HRM strategy were examined in detail to understand the management of human resources of the organizations in Malaysia. She is also experienced in the use of modeling and application of software such as AMOS and SPSS. She currently serves as an editorial board member of the Asian Academy of Management Journal (AAMJ). She previously worked in corporate sectors and had been involved with various consultation programs which were related to human resource development, compensation, performance appraisal, and other related matters.

Eric Kong is a Senior Lecturer at the School of Management and Marketing, University of Southern Queensland, Australia. His current research interests include intellectual capital, knowledge management, and nonprofit strategic management. He has published over 55 publications, including international refereed journal articles, refereed conference papers, scholarly research book and book chapter. He was a winner of the 2011 Highly Commended Emerald Literati Award for an article he published. in the Journal of Intellectual Capital. An article he published in Knowledge Management Research and Practice in 2009 has been selected as one of the top ten articles in the Journal in the last decade. Eric was nominated as the Chair of the Best Paper Award for Public and Nonprofit Division at the Academy of Management Conference in 2008 and 2010. He served as Guest Editor of Special Issue of Journal of Intellectual Capital on Intellectual Capital and Nonprofit Organizations in the Knowledge Economy.

W. B. Lee is the Chair Professor of the Department of the Industrial and Systems Engineering and Director of the Knowledge Management and Innovation Research Centre of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. He has established the Knowledge Solution Laboratory, the first of its kind in Hong Kong and has pioneered research and practice of knowledge management and knowledge audit in various organizations which include manufacturing, trading, public utilities, various government departments and health care. Prof. Lee and his team have launched Asia’s first on-line MSc. Program in Knowledge Management. His research interest includes manufacturing systems, knowledge management, organizational learning, and intellectual capital-based management.

Carol Yeh-Yun Lin is a professor of the Department of Business Administration at National Cheng-chi University in Taiwan. Dr. Lin has published extensively with over 40 scholarly publications and 60 conference presentations. She has been granted “Highly Commended Award Winner at the Literati Network Awards for Excellence 2009” for her paper “National Intellectual Capital: Comparison of the Nordic Countries,” Journal of Intellectual Capital, 9(4), 525-545, co-authored with Prof. Leif Edvinsson. Her book National Intellectual Capital: A Comparison of 40 Countries, co-authored with Prof. Leif Edvinsson was published by NY: Springer in 2011.

Cherie Lui obtained her Master degree in Knowledge Management at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University and her first degree in Business Administration at the City University of Hong Kong. She is now working at the Knowledge Management Research Center responsible for the supervision of industrial based projects on Knowledge Management and Intellectual Capital Management for the undergraduate students, the delivery of KM / ICM consultancy projects as well as training for corporations. She is also one of the instructors under the course of ‘The Management and Reporting of Intellectual Capital,’ and she has engaged in more than 100 KM related projects.

Camelia Iuliana Lungu is Associate Professor at Bucharest University of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania, and has a PhD diploma in Accounting. She has twelve years teaching and researching activity. The disciplines taught in the field of accounting are: Introduction in Accounting, Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting, Controlling, International Financial Reporting Standards, etc. The research interest manifests in financial and reporting, managerial accounting, intellectual capital, social and environmental reporting and accounting, sustainable development, accounting education by publishing various theoretical and experimental studies in national and international journals, and by developing national research projects as manager and team member.

Romilda Mazzotta is Assistant Professor in Accounting within the Faculty of Economics of University of Calabria. Her main research interests are related to intellectual capital and corporate governance in public and private organizations. On these research themes she has published books, book chapters, journal articles, and presented papers to international conferences.
About the Contributors

Roger Mercken is Full Professor of Auditing and Strategic Information Management, Hasselt University, Belgium. He teaches courses on accounting, auditing, capital budgeting, and information systems and author of papers and books on those subjects. He holds the degrees of Master of Applied Economics, Master of Business Administration, and a PhD in Applied Economics and Business Information Systems (K.U. Leuven, Belgium).

Sharon E. Norris is an Assistant Professor of Business and Director of Graduate Studies, MBA Programs, with the Gainey School of Business at Spring Arbor University. She holds a Ph.D. in Organizational Leadership with a major in Human Resource Development from Regent University’s School of Global Leadership and Entrepreneurship. Her recent publications include those on topics of leading change, leadership development, impression management, self-monitoring, and global human resource development. She has presented her research at regional, national, and international conferences and received various awards for her academic achievements. Dr. Norris is a Beta Phi Scholar and recipient of the Gary J. Confessore Award for Significant Contributions to the Advancement of Learner Autonomy presented at Exeter College, University of Oxford, by Dr. Confessore, during the Autonomous Learning World Caucus. Dr. Norris received the Graduate Faculty Scholar Award from Spring Arbor University. She also received an Award of Excellence, Outstanding Doctor of Philosophy in Organizational Leadership Dissertation from Regent University.

Marc J. A. Rabaey was IT-director in the Medical Service, Royal Military Academy, and Assistant Chief of Staff Evaluation of the Belgian Ministry of Defense. He is currently System Thinking Consultant in Business and Information Technology.

Göran Roos is Chairing the Advanced Manufacturing Council in Adelaide and a member of the board for VTT International in Finland; Honorary Professor at Warwick Business School in the UK; Visiting Professor of Intangible Asset Management and Performance Measurement at the Centre for Business Performance at Cranfield University, UK; Professor in Strategic Design in the Faculty of Design at Swinburne University of Technology, Melbourne, Australia; Adjunct Professor at Mawson Institute at University of South Australia, Adelaide, Australia; Adjunct Professor at ECIC, University of Adelaide, South Australia; Australia; Adjunct Professor at University of Technology Sydney Business School, Australia; Adjunct Professor at Nanyang Business School, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore; and Senior Advisor to QMI Solutions, Brisbane, and Aalto Executive Education Academy, Helsinki.
Graziella Sicoli is Assistant Professor in Accounting within the Faculty of Economics of University of Calabria, where she is Lecturer in Financial Accounting. Her main research interests are related value creation, governance, and intellectual capital. On these research themes she has published books, journal articles and presented papers to International conferences.

Intan Soraya is a Lecturer with the Faculty of Management, Multimedia University (MMU), Cyberjaya, Malaysia. She is currently pursuing her doctoral studies in strategic human capital management and organizational innovation. Intan Soraya is also a researcher under MMU’s Centre for Knowledge and Innovation Management, which engages in research, training and development, and management consulting projects. Her latest engagement is as Project Leader in a research project on establishing a human resource management framework for innovative capability development of companies in Malaysia’s Multimedia Super Corridor (MSC Malaysia). The national research project, which is fully funded by the Ministry of Higher Education, is specifically tasked to identify effective HRM strategies for the management of technological knowledge workers deemed critical to the success of MSC Malaysia. Prior to her attachment with MMU, Intan Soraya had served as a Human Resource Management (HRM) practitioner in the Malaysian corporate sector.

Shigeki Sugiyama has been working on various fields from Industrial Engineering, Control, AI, Neural Networking, Virtual Reality, E-Learning, Embedded Technology, Computer, to Consciousness Studies for more than 30 years and have presented more than 70 papers. He also put much attention on Service Science, especially on a network behavior in a scalable situation. And he has touched upon setting up a science park project about the matters of IT during 1994-1999, and he has done some cooperative research works with Universities in US and in Europe about IT. Dr. Eng. from University of Gifu.

Anna Szopa, PhD, designs and teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in entrepreneurship and technology commercialization. She holds an MS in Quality Management from Silesian University of Technology and earned her doctoral degree from Jagiellonian University examining innovation strategies of spin-off companies. She has twelve years experience in managing companies including research and consultancy. She awarded the fellowship of the The Ryoichi Sasakawa Young Leaders Fellowship Fund (Sylff). She was a visiting researcher at Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute and University of Central Florida. Her primary research interests include university-industry relationships and university spin-offs. She is and editor of books about innovations, and published several articles in management journals and books.

Eric Tsui is the Professor of Knowledge Management of the Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. He was formerly Chief Research Officer, Asia Pacific, in Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC) (2000-2005). Prof. Tsui was responsible for strategic research, knowledge brokering (between CSC and the clients), innovation management, and university-industry collaborations. During his tenure at CSC, he had made significant contributions to CSC’s expert systems products, applied research, Portal community leadership, and innovation programs.
Chew Kok Wai is an Associate Professor, Faculty of Management, Multimedia University, Malaysia. He is also a Singapore Internet Research Center Associate, Wee Kim Wee School of Communication and Information, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore. Currently, he is the Ambassador for Malaysia, Academy of Management Human Resource Division’s Ambassadors Program. He was a Visiting Research Scholar, Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, India. He has published more than 40 papers in international refereed journals and conference proceedings. His research interests are multi-disciplinary. As Principal Investigator, he has completed two e-commerce research projects funded by the Ministry of Science, Technology and Innovation, Malaysia. He is currently a Co-Principal Investigator for a project entitled “Human Resource Management Framework for Innovative Capability Development” funded by the Ministry of Higher Education, Malaysia. His research interests include Internet-related Behavior, Organizational Behavior and Human Resource Management. Prior to joining Multimedia University, he has worked for a Unilever plantation company as Estate Manager and Research Manager.

Jessica Yip obtained her BSc degree in Logistics Engineering and Management and is pursuing her PhD studies in the Department of Industrial and System Engineering, the Hong Kong Polytechnic University. She has worked with the Mass Transit Railway Corporation Limited (MTRC), the Hong Kong China and Gas Company Limited (Towngas), and the United Nations (UN) in projects such as knowledge audit, intellectual capital assessment, and knowledge sharing tools training. Her research interests are, but not limited to, knowledge audit, storytelling, knowledge elicitation, knowledge representation and intellectual capital management.