About the Contributors

Patricia Ordóñez de Pablos is a professor in the Department of Business Administration and Accountability in the Faculty of Economics at The University of Oviedo (Spain). Her teaching and research interests focus on the areas of strategic management, knowledge management, intellectual capital, and China. She serves as an Associate Editor for the Behaviour and Information Technology journal. Additionally, she is Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of Learning and Intellectual Capital (IJLIC) and the International Journal of Strategic Change Management (IJSCM). She is also Editor-in-Chief of IGI Global’s International Journal of Asian Business and Information Management (IJABIM), as well as editor for a number of IGI Global book publications and full book series.

Robert D. Tennyson is currently a Professor of Educational Psychology and Technology in the Learning and Cognition, at the University of Minnesota. In addition to his faculty position, he is also the Program Coordinator for Psychological Foundations of Education. His published works range from basic theoretical articles on human learning, to applied books on instructional design and technology. He is editor of the scientific journal, Computers in Human Behavior, published by Elsevier Science which is now in its 17th year, as well as serving on several editorial boards for professional journals. His research and publications include topics such as cognitive learning and complex cognitive processes, intelligent systems, complex-dynamic simulations, testing and measurement, instructional design, and advanced learning technologies. At the present time, he is working with a German colleague on basic research in learning complex-advanced knowledge. His international activities include directing a NATO-sponsored Advanced Research workshop (Barcelona) and a NATO Advanced Study Institute (Grimstad, Norway)—both on the topic of Automated Instructional Design and Delivery. He has recently directed an institute on technology in Athens and Kuala Lumpur. His other international activities include twice receiving a Fulbright Research Award to Germany and once to Russia. His teaching interests include psychology of learning, technology-based systems design, evaluation, and management systems.

* * *

Neeta Baporikar, Professor (Strategic Management and Entrepreneurship) is currently on an academic assignment with Sultanate of Oman, Ministry of Higher Education (MOHE), as Head, Scientific Research Department Salalah College of Applied Sciences. With more than a decade of experience in industry, consultancy and training, she made a lateral switch to research and academics in 1995. Dr. Baporikar holds D.Sc (Management Studies) USA, PhD in Management, University of Pune INDIA with MBA (Distinction) and Law (Hons.) degrees. Apart from this, she is also an External Reviewer
Oman Accreditation Council, Accredited Management Teacher, Qualified Trainer, Doctoral Guide and Board Member of Academics and Advisory Committee in accredited B-Schools. Reviewer for international journals, she has to her credit several refereed research papers and authored books in the area of Entrepreneurship, Strategy, Management and Higher Education.

Bob Barrett is a professor in the School of Business at the American Public University. Dr. Barrett’s current research interests are: Online Learning, Intellectual Capital, Human Resource Development (HRD); Human Resource Management (HRM); Virtual Management Teams; Disability in the Workplace. He speaks both nationally and internationally on these topics, with an emphasis on online learning, disabilities, and intellectual capital/knowledge management. Dr. Barrett currently teaches and writes on the subject of global business in today’s changing economic times.

Dipak Kumar Bhattacharyya is Ph.D. in Management from University of Calcutta. He has served in industry in Training and Organizational Development function for about 15 years. Thereafter for last two decades he has worked with several Management Institutes in India. Presently he is attached as Professor of Xavier Institute of Management, Bhubaneswar, India. Prof. Bhattacharyya has extensive consultancy experience in HR, Quality Management, and Organizational Development and Restructuring areas. He has published 17 Books on HR management areas with Oxford, Pearson, PHI, etc, and has contributed more than 100 papers in various journals of international repute.

Constanţa-Nicoleta Bodea is professor at the Academy of Economic Studies (AES), Bucharest, Romania. She taught project management and artificial intelligence. She is the president of the Project Management Romania Association, and member of the Education & Training Board of the International Project Management Association - IPMA since 2013. She managed more than 20 R&D and IT projects in the last ten years. She is author of 11 books and more than 50 papers on Project Management, Information Systems, and Artificial Intelligence, being honored by IPMA with the Outstanding Research Contributions in 2007.

Rituparna Das is the Assistant Dean in the Faculty of Policy Science at National Law University Jodhpur, India (NLU). He is also the Executive Director of Centre of Risk Management and Derivatives at NLU. His PhD on Econometrics is preceded by dual masters in Economics and Management. His past associations include the centres of research and training established by the Reserve Bank of India. His areas of preference and international publications include Bank Management, Financial Risk Management and Policy Research.

Marco Giuliani is assistant professor of Accounting and Business Administration at the Università Politecnica delle Marche (Ancona - Italy). He received his Ph.D. in Accounting and Business Administration from the Università degli Studi di Urbino in 2005. During 2007-2008 he was a visiting researcher at the University of Uppsala (Sweden). His main research interests are in financial accounting, Intellectual Capital accounting and time accounting. In financial accounting he has worked on group accounting, accounting for goodwill and intangible assets and on accounting frauds. In the Intellectual Capital discourse, he has made several contributions regarding how to visualize, measure and disclose Intellectual Capital and Intellectual Liabilities. He has also examined the impact of the time variable on specific accounting practices. He is member of research groups on Intellectual Capital, company valuation and financial accounting. He is editor-in-chief of the International Journal of Finance and Accounting, reviewer for several international journals and member of several national and international accounting associations.
About the Contributors

Florence Ho is currently Assistant Programme Director and Senior Lecturer with the School of Professional Education & Executive Development at The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. As a Senior Research Fellow with the Public Policy Research Institute, Hong Kong Polytechnic University, she has been involved in numerous public policy research studies. Dr. Ho also serves as an Honorary Project Director with the Center for Family Business under the Asia-Pacific Institute of Business of the Chinese University of Hong Kong. She has taught at the Copenhagen School of Business, Denmark; and University of Lund, Sweden. She has conducted leadership development programmes for senior executives. Florence obtained her doctoral degree from George Washington University.

Abu Hassan bin Md Isa is a Professor of Faculty of Economics and Business, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak. He received a PhD degree from the University of Aberdeen, Scotland UK and M.S. from Cornell University, New York, USA. He has published in a variety of academic journals. He is a leading professor in the field of accounting and business management. His research interests cover area related to intellectual capital, knowledge management, accounting and corporate finance.

Kijpokin Kasemsap received his B. Eng. degree in mechanical engineering from King Mongkut University of Technology-Thonburi in Bangkok in 1996 and his MBA degree from Ramkhamhaeng University in Bangkok in 2008. Now he is a DBA candidate in human resource management at Suan Sunandha Rajabhat University in Bangkok, Thailand. He has 16 years of engineering and management experiences. He is an Engineering Manager at Formica (Thailand) Company Limited, part of New Zealand-based Fletcher Building Limited. His current research interest includes business management, human resource management, and knowledge management.

Muhammad Khalique is a Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Economics and Business, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak. He earned his PhD degree from the Universiti Malaysia Sarawak, Malaysia. His research focuses on intellectual capital management, knowledge management, entrepreneurship innovation, SMEs and organizational performance. He is an author of several articles and conference papers on intellectual capital and organizational performances. Muhammad Khalique is the corresponding author and can be contacted at drmkhalique@gmail.com.

Eric Kong is a Senior Lecturer at the School of Management & Marketing, University of Southern Queensland, Australia. His current research interests include intellectual capital, knowledge management, and nonprofit strategic management. He has published over 60 publications, including international refereed journal articles, refereed conference papers, scholarly research book and book chapters. He was a winner of the 2011 Highly Commended Emerald Literati Award for an article he published in the Journal of Intellectual Capital. An article he published in Knowledge Management Research & Practice in 2009 has been selected as one of the top ten articles in the Journal in the last decade. His co-authored article, which was published in IEEE IT Professional in 2012, was selected for the Essence of ITPro in 2012. Eric was nominated as the Chair of the Best Paper Award for Public and Nonprofit Division at the Academy of Management Conference in 2008 and 2010. He served as Guest Editor of Special Issue of Journal of Intellectual Capital on ‘Intellectual Capital and Nonprofit Organizations in the Knowledge Economy’.

Choi Sang Long obtained his Bachelor Degree in Psychology from the National University of Malaysia and Master Degree in Human Resource Development from Universiti Teknologi Malaysia (UTM). He also completed his PhD studies in UTM. Prior to joining the education industry, he has more than 18 years of corporate managerial experience with local and multi-national organizations. He serves as senior management member with organizations in various industries such as the retailing, servicing, education and manufacturing sector. Currently he serves in Universiti Teknologi Malaysia as a Senior Lecturer and Researcher. His research interest is in human resource management and organizational behavior.

Shazali Abu Mansor is a Professor of Faculty of Economics and Business, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak. He received his PhD degree from the University of Salford, UK. His papers have appeared in various academic journals. He is a leading professor and researcher in the field of economic efficiency, entrepreneurship, corporate governance, and international trade.

Tadeusz Marek, Ph.D., D.SC. is a professor of psychology and head of Neuroergonomics and Neurobiology departments at Jagiellonian University in Krakow, and professor of psychology at Warsaw School of Social Sciences and Humanities in Wrasaw. He is the author or co-author of over 350 research publications. His research interests focus on human performance, chronopsychology, cognitive neuroscience, neuroadaptive technologies and neuroergonomics. Professor Marek is the past president of Committee on Ergonomics of Polish Academy of Sciences, and past vice-rector of Jagiellonian University, he served as the editor of an international journal Ergonomics. He currently serves as head of Jagiellonian University Center for Higher Education Research, editor in chief of ERGONOMIA – An International Journal of Ergonomics and Human Factors, and senior editor of Theoretical Issues in Ergonomics Science journal. He is a member of many learned societies.

Ana Martins has submitted a PhD in Intellectual Capital Management and Organisational Sustainability the conduit of distributed/shared Leadership, Self-efficacy and Humanization. She is currently a HRM/OB Lecturer at XJTLU Business School, Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, in the Department of Business, Economics and Management. Her research areas are: Leadership and Emotional Intelligence and Strategic HRM and Knowledge Management.. She is an associate reviewer of various International Academic Journals.

Isabel Martins has submitted a PhD in Organisational Learning and Human Capital Development. Currently she is Assistant Professor in Management at the Australian College of Kuwait, Kuwait. She has been a consultant in Human Capital Development, in China. Her research areas are: HRM and Knowledge Management, Intellectual Capital – developing human capital and tacit knowledge in High Performance Working Organizations and Learning Organizations. She is an associate reviewer of various International Academic Journals.
About the Contributors

Artie W. Ng is currently Professor with School of International Business at Seneca College of Applied Arts and Technology, Toronto, Canada. He was previously Head of Cluster (Business) with the College of Professional & Continuing Education and Senior Lecturer with School of Professional Education & Executive Development at The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. He was also a Research Fellow with Public Policy Research Institute at the same institution. Dr. Ng has an interdisciplinary research interest in corporate social responsibility, intellectual capital and performance measurement of knowledge-intensive organizations. He is an international associate with the Centre for Social and Environmental Accounting Research at the University of St. Andrews, Scotland. He obtained his PhD in management from the University of Glasgow, Scotland. He is a qualified accountant as well as Fellow with both HKICPA and CIMA (UK).

Aurelia Pătraşcu is Associate Professor at Petroleum and Gas University of Ploieşti, Romania. She is PhD in Economy (Economic Informatics), a title obtained at Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania. She teaches and coordinates the following courses: fundamental informatics, database, database management systems, web technology and management informatics to graduate and postgraduate students. Her current research interests fields are: document management systems, database management systems, web programming and decision support systems. She is author of 3 books and 27 articles in previously presented interest fields.

Orlando Petiz Pereira holds a PhD in Economic and Business Sciences. He is an Assistant Professor at the University of Minho, School of Economics and Management, Department of Economics, Portugal. His research areas: Innovation and Knowledge Economics, Economics of the Firm and Human Resources, Labour and Education Economics, Management and economics of competitiveness and creativity, Social economics and Entrepreneurship.

Göran Roos is Honorary Professor at Warwick Business School in the UK; Visiting Professor of Intangible Asset Management and Performance Measurement at the Centre for Business Performance at Cranfield University, UK; Professor in Strategic Design in the Faculty of Design at Swinburne University of Technology, Melbourne, Australia; Adjunct Professor at Mawson Institute at University of South Australia, Adelaide, Australia; Adjunct Professor at ECIC, University of Adelaide, South Australia; Australia; Adjunct Professor at University of Technology Sydney Business School, Australia. He is one of the founders of modern intellectual capital science and a recognised world expert in this field as well as a major contributor to the thinking and practice in the areas of strategy and innovation management as well as industrial and innovation policy.

Jamal Abdul Nassir Shaari is a senior lecturer and Marketing Program Coordinator at the Faculty of Economics and Business, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak. He received his PhD degree from Reitaku University, Japan and MBA (TQM) from Marquette, USA. He is also a professional speaker, researcher and consultant. His activities are oriented towards the field of total quality management, marketing, intellectual capital and knowledge management. His research publications appeared in various academic journals.

Rupali Singh is research scholar in the area of Talent Management in Academics at School of Management Studies, Motilal Nehru National Institute of Technology, Allahabad, Uttar Pradesh, India. She has been recipient of Sant Swami Das award for her research from Hindustan Institute of Management and Computer Studies, Mathura and Dayalbagh Educational Institute, Agra. She can be reached at rupalisingh10@gmail.com.

Tripti Singh is working as an Assistant Professor at the School of Management Studies, Motilal Nehru National Institute of Technology. She has experience of about two years in the industry and 13 years in teaching and research. Her interest areas are strategic human resource management and supply chain networks. She has to her credit around 21 research papers in international and national journals and 18 papers in various international conferences in India and abroad. She has guided three PhD scholars and four are under progress. She is a recipient of Best Woman Researcher Award in the year 2011, conferred by IJSTD. She can be reached at tripti@mnnit.ac.in Zakaria Siti-Fatimah is currently conducting her research to finish her Master program in area of International Business at the School of Management in USM. She holds a Bachelor Degree in Business Administration in area of International Business from Universiti Teknologi MARA. Her current research interest includes self-initiated expatriation and determinants of intention to repatriate. She has presented her paper in International Conference on International Studies. She received scholarship under the Young Lecturers Scheme from Universiti Teknologi MARA.

Anna Szopa, PhD, designs and teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in entrepreneurship and technology commercialization. She holds an MS in Quality Management from Silesian University of Technology and earned her doctoral degree from Jagiellonian University examining innovation strategies of spin-off companies. She has twelve years’ experience in managing companies including research and consultancy. She awarded the fellowship of the The Ryoichi Sasakawa Young Leaders Fellowship Fund (Sylff). She was a visiting researcher at Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute and University of Central Florida. Her primary research interests include university-industry relationships and university spin-offs. She is and editor of books about innovations, and published several articles in management journals and books.
About the Contributors

Ana Tănăsescu is Lecturer at Petroleum and Gas University of Ploiești, Romania. She received her PhD in Economy (Economic Cybernetics and Statistics) from Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest, Romania. She coordinates at the faculty master and bachelor specializations the following courses: decision support systems, business administration intelligent systems and information systems design to graduate and postgraduate students. She is working in the following areas: artificial intelligence, expert systems, decision support systems, database and ontology-based systems. She has published as a single author or co-author 3 books and 33 scientific articles in domain journals or in scientific conferences volumes.

Manish Kumar Verma is Assistant Professor in the area of psychology at Hindustan Institute of Technology and Management Agra, Uttar Pradesh, India. He has 17 research papers in his credit published in various national and international journals and a rich experience of a decade in academics. He is also running a counseling cell for students in institute itself. He can be reached at kverma0@gmail.com.

Sia Shi Xuan obtained her Bachelor degree in Management Technology from Universiti Teknologi Malaysia. She continued her Master degree in the same University. Her research focus in her Master dissertation is on Human Resource Development practices in the institution of higher education in Malaysia. Generally, her research interest is in organizational behavior.

Mohd-Yusoff Yusliza, PhD, is currently the Programme Manager (Ph.D) and a Senior Lecturer with the Graduate School of Business, Universiti Sains Malaysia. She holds bachelor degree in Business Administration and Master of Business Administration from Universiti Putra Malaysia and Universiti Sains Malaysia, respectively, and obtained Ph.D. in Administrative Science from Universiti Teknologi MARA, Malaysia. Her current research interests include repatriation and international students’ adjustment, HR roles, HR competencies, E-HRM, HRM effectiveness, empowerment, Green HRM, and topics in Organizational Behavior. She has published several articles in international journals and local mass media and also has presented and published her research papers in several local and international conferences. She can be reached at yusliza1977@yahoo.com.