About the Authors

Julie Prescott (CPsychol, PhD, MA, BSc) is a lecturer of Psychology at the University of Bolton. Julie earned her PhD from the Faculty of Health and Life Sciences at The University of Liverpool, UK, in 2011. Julie has a research career spanning over ten years in academic and public sector environments. Julie’s background is in psychology and women’s studies; she has a particular interest in women’s careers, especially in terms of barriers and drivers, occupational segregation, and the experiences of women working in male dominated occupations/industries, in particular the computer games industry. Julie has published one book entitled Gendered Occupational Differences in Science, Engineering, and Technology Careers (again co-authored with Jan).

Jan Bogg (BA, M.Sc, Ph.D, C. Psych, FHEA) is a senior lecturer in the Faculty of Health and Life Sciences, at the University of Liverpool, UK. Her Breaking Barriers research addresses career progression, barriers and drivers for women in science, and equity and diversity issues in the workplace. Jan is an organizational psychologist; her research focuses on workforce issues, leadership, and gender in the workplace; and she is a member of the United Kingdom Athena Swan Steering Committee. The Athena SWAN Charter (http://www.athenaswan.org.uk) recognises commitment to advancing women’s careers in science, technology, engineering, mathematics, and medicine (STEMM).
