About the Author

Gary A. Berg, Ph.D., is author of Why Distance Learning? and over twenty articles on higher education and the use of technology in education. He has worked in higher education for many years as an administrator and is currently Director of Extended Education and Distance Learning at California State University, Channel Islands. Dr. Berg has developed many distance learning format courses and programs, been interviewed for numerous national publications, and consulted by educational and government organizations on the use of distance learning.