

Acknowledgment

The editor wants to express their gratitude to all those colleagues who supported, in many different ways, the pleasant effort for editing this book. First and foremost, the authors that contributed to the writing of the book's chapters; they are the actual creators of the qualified research that is described in the book, and they must be especially thanked for the patience exhibited in the editing process. Special thanks to all the authors that help in the editing process. Special thanks to all the reviewers which help me in the editorial activities. Speaking of patience, I need not to overlook the contribution of the IGI Global's publishing editor, Joel Gamon, altogether with all the very efficient staff at IGI Global. Joel Gamon helps me in every step of the editorial process and I dedicated many thanks for this. A final word of thanks is dedicated to my whole family and all my friends who support me in editing work without even knowing it.

Monica Chiş
Editor