Acknowledgment

I would like to thank all of the authors, reviewers and editorial board who contributed to this project, and whose promptness and professionalism kept it on schedule. At IGI Global, I am especially grateful to Julia Mosemann (Development Editor) and Kristin Klinger (Director of Editorial Content), for their helpful and professional support at every stage during the editing of this handbook.

The idea for the book developed initially from two international symposia on Web 2.0 technologies held at Nagoya University of Commerce & Business in Japan in 2007 and 2008. I am indebted to the University for its support of these events and for arranging a research day, which made the editing process possible.

Finally, I would like to thank my family for their support and my two young children, William and Hannah, for having allowed me to invest so much time in the editing of this book. I dedicate this book to them.

Michael Thomas
Nagoya, Japan
June 2008