

This book is dedicated to my dear wife, Sheela. Sheela has been involved in the book effort right from the start, helping with ideas and providing feedback as necessary to formulate the book proposal and project plan. She has made it convenient for me to spend time on this significant writing and editing project. I would also like to acknowledge my sweet daughter, Kanchana, for her love and support. I could not have successfully executed a comprehensive book project of this size without their continuous assistance.
