

Acknowledgment

The editor would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book, without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed. I am immensely grateful to my fellow professionals, well-wishers, and colleagues who were of great help to me in bringing out this book. A very special “thank you” goes to Mehdi Khosrow-Pour of IGI Global, whose enthusiasm and encouragement motivated me to initially accept his invitation for taking on this endeavors. Deep appreciation and gratitude is due to all authors who submitted the manuscripts, revised their chapters multiple times, and resubmitted the camera-ready chapters in time.

I would also like to thank all members of the Editorial Advisory Board for providing their thoughtful advice regarding the organization of the chapters and other helpful editorial suggestions for enhancing its content. In particular, Andrew Simpson of Oxford University and Nanjangud C. Narendra of IBM Research Lab (India) provided very useful suggestions regarding the organization of the chapters. Some of the authors of the chapters included in this book also served as referees for chapters written by other authors. Thanks go to all those who provided constructive and comprehensive reviews. Some of the members of the Editorial Advisory Board set the benchmark of their review. Support from Sikander Mahmood Khan from Campsie Library, Canterbury City Council is highly acknowledged for managing all paper work and correspondence archives. His timely archiving process of documents and management of my mail is deeply appreciated.

I would also like to thank Qutaibah Malluhi, Head, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, Qatar University and Leanne Ryland, then acting Head, School of Computing and Mathematics, University of Western Sydney, Australia for their constant support in terms of generous allocations of photocopier use, printing resources, and most importantly, my time during my stay with these two universities for this 18-month-long project.

Special thanks also go to the publishing team at IGI-Global whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception of the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable. In particular to Rebecca Beistline and Deborah Yahnke who continuously prodded via e-mail for keeping the project on schedule.

And last but not least, my family for their unfailing support and encouragement during the months it took to give birth to this book.

In closing, I again wish to thank all of the authors for their insights and excellent contributions to this book.

Khaled M. Khan, PhD
Qatar University
February, 2008