

Index

A

- automatic identification (Auto-ID) technology 69
 - radio frequency identification (RFID) 69, 71–72, 77–82
- average revenue per user (ARPU) 266

B

- bulk encryption protocols 54, 65
- business
 - processes 175–185
 - reengineering 181

C

- code division multiple access (CDMA) network
 - technology 70, 287
- computing,
 - nomadic 3, 6
 - portable 3–5
 - ubiquitous 2, 5, 8, 12
- cross-market differentiation by tying 267
- customer relationship management (CRM) 89
- customizable security
 - policy 60
 - systems 59

D

- DAB-IP 151, 152–154
- diffusion of innovation model (DoI) 257

- digital mobile broadcasting (DMB). a.k.a. digital multimedia broadcasting (DMB)
- digital multimedia broadcasting (DMB) 234–250, 278–279
 - access and usage time 246–248
 - phone price and fees 245–246
 - program content 248
 - qualitative analysis 240–241
 - quantitative analysis 241–242
 - research methodology 239–240
 - service 248–249
 - status and concepts 236–239
 - usage and implications 249
- DVB-H 151–153

E

- electronic
 - business (e-business) 254–257
 - commerce (e-commerce) 17, 216
 - CRM (eCRM) 89
 - payment (e-payment) 35
 - product code (EPC) 71–72
 - retailing (e-tailing)
 - case studies 330–334
 - critical success factors 327–330
- encryption 54, 56–65
- extensible markup language (XML) 57–58
 - encryption protocol 57

F

fluidity 2, 6–8, 11–12

G

global

mobile communication system (GSM) 70

positioning systems (GPS) 69, 70, 346

H

hedonic value 114–115, 127

horizontal differentiation 267 hospitals

mobile applications 174–197

HSDPA 287

human-computer interaction 5

I

i-mode 69

interactivity 5, 12

M

metaspace 2, 6–8, 12

micromobility 2, 6–8, 12

mobile advertizing (m-advertizing) 215–227

privacy concerns 226

technology 216–218

automotive cooperative services (MACS) 200–212

design framework 201–203

application 203–212

safety aspects 210–211

service network 206–207

service scenarios 204–206

technologies 207–208

business (m-business) 88–104, 254–257

customer focus 94–95

strategic focus 101–104

strategies 96–101

commerce (m-commerce) 17–30, 33–50, 88

applications 24, 334–335

business 335

consumer 334–335

background 18–19

business models 322–326

characteristics 289–290

components 21

critical success factors (CSF) 326–333

definition 288–289, 321

framework 321–322

functionality 321

future trends 27–28, 298–299, 335–339

issues 19–20

market 24–27, 288

development 287–299

market scenarios 297–298

dream market scenario 298 gloomy market scenario 298 market collapse scenario 298 rainbow compromise scenario 298

retail industry 319–339

security 53–65

statistics 322

technology 21–24, 322

trends 296–298

communications markets 134

CRM (mCRM) 90

data services (MDS) 134–147, 287–299

usage patterns 144–149

health (m-health) 346–362

analytical hierarchy process approach 350–352

case study 352–361

proposed actions 360–361

system 348–350

hospitality applications 257–258

case study 258–261

logistics (m-logistics) 68–83

technology

diffusion factors 74–77

marketing (m-marketing) 215

markets

segmentation 138

user categorization 136–138

payment (m-payment) 33–50, 273–274

applications 34–35

Bibit 46

future trends 48–50

i-Mode 44–45

issues 37–38

key players 35–36

LUUP 45

M-Pay 43–44

Mobipay 46

OboPay 45

Paiement CB sur mobile 46

Paybox 44

PayPal Mobile 46

requirements 38–39

security 39

system categorizations 39–43

Index

- by applications installed 40
 - by clearing and settlement method 41
 - by geography 42
 - by location of payers' account details 42
 - by mode of registration 41
 - by payment amount 41
 - by proximity 40
 - by scenarios 41
 - by seller/ buyer origin 40
 - by solution provider 42
 - by technology used 42
 - by time of payment 40
 - by type of purchase 42
 - by type of transaction 41
 - by user preference 43
 - by validation payments 42
 - TextPayMe 43
 - Vodafone m-Pay Bill 43
 - services 111–129
 - background 113–121
 - temporal and spatial context 115–118
 - technologies 181
 - technology (MT)
 - healthcare support 345–362
 - television 150–171
 - design issues 154–162
 - value-added services 265–282, 303–304
 - characteristics 275–277
 - connectedness 277
 - contemporariness 277
 - content-focused 277
 - customization 275–276
 - mobile games 274–275
 - mobile music service 271
 - mobile video service 271–272
 - motivations 267–268
 - multimedia messaging service (MMS) 268–269
 - personalized call-ring service 269–270
 - short messaging service (SMS) 268–269
 - strategies 281–282
 - content-focused market strategy 281–282
 - real-time
 - market-responding strategy 281
 - various bundling
 - strategy 282
 - multiple-profiling 8–9, 11–12
- N
- next generation m-logistics (NGML) 69–72
 - nomadicity 2–3
- O
- order
 - entry system 186
- P
- policy-based encryption 63
- S
- S-DMB 152–154
 - secure sockets layer (SSL) 54–58
 - protocol 55
 - security
 - policy 60–63
 - service
 - consumption phase 157–158
 - delivery phase 156–157
 - development phase 156
 - short message service center (SMSC) 268
- T
- technology acceptance model (TAM) 72, 135
 - telecommunications tariffs 301–315
 - community-based individual tariffs 305–308
 - business model 306–307
 - case analyses 308–312
 - supply and demand analysis 307–308
 - technology 314–315
 - session initiation protocol (SIP) 314
 - terrestrial digital multimedia broadcasting (T-DMB) 152–154
 - transient hierarchy 7–8
- U
- ubiquitous technology 293–294
 - ubiquity 5–6
 - unified theory of acceptance and use of technology (UTAUT) 74
 - universal mobile telecommunications system (UMTS) 69, 150
 - utilitarian value 114–115, 127
- V
- value
 - chains 267–268, 279
 - creation model 326
 - vertical differentiation 267

W

wireless

fidelity (Wi-Fi) 365–380

standards 368–370

802.11a standard 369

802.11b standard 369

802.11g standard 369–370

technology 367–368

adoption 371–374

case study 377–379

educational applications 374–376

future trends 379–380

implementation challenges 376–377

security 370

local area networks (WLAN) 365

mobile technologies

status and concepts 235–236

technologies

long-range

WiMax 17, 30

short-range

Bluetooth 17, 28–30, 253–262