

Acknowledgment

The editors would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book, without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed. Deep appreciation and gratitude is due to the Internet International Institute (IN3) of the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya that has sponsored the research we have been doing on e-justice for the last two years.

We would also like to thank the authors of the chapters for their insights and excellent contributions to this book. Thanks go to all those who provided constructive and comprehensive reviews of the chapters submitted. Support of the Department of Law and Political Science at the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya in the review process is also acknowledged. Finally, special thanks to Jordi Miret, research assistant at the group on e-justice in the Internet International Institute (IN3) of the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya, for his help in the edition process.

Special thanks also go to the publishing team at IGI Global, whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception of the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable. In particular, our thanks go to Ross Miller, Jessica Thompson, and Heather Probst, who continuously prodded via e-mail for keeping the project on schedule and to Mehdi Khosrow-Pour, executive Editor of Information Science Publishing, who from the very beginning has supported our project and encouraged us to make it real.
