

Acknowledgments

This book owes much to the encouragement and assistance of many people. First of all, I would like to thank Ruth Bennett for her critical review and helpful feedback. I would also like to thank my well-wishers who believed in me and were very supportive of my ideas and visions: Larry Lipsitz and Howard Lipsitz of Educational Technology Publications, and Laura Granato of The Federal Leadership Institute.

Finally, and most important, I thank my wife Komar Khan and my sons Intisar Sherwani Khan and Inshat Sherwani Khan; my brothers Kamrul Huda Khan, Manzurul Huda Khan, and Nazrul Huda Khan; and my sisters Nasima Zaman and Akhtar Janhan Khanam—all for their continued support and encouragement. I would also like to thank all my nieces and nephews for their encouragement.