

Acknowledgments

The fact that this book is able to provide a comprehensive, detailed and current overview about reference modeling in the context of business systems analysis is due to the excellent contributions we received by academics and practitioners who are globally perceived as the thought leaders in this area.

We would like to thank our reviewers for spending the time and energy preparing critical, but constructive reviews (in alphabetical order):

Jörg Becker, Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster, Germany

Oliver Braun, Saarland University, Germany

Jan vom Brocke, European Research Center for Information Systems, University of Münster, Germany

Wilhelm Dangelmaier, University of Paderborn, Germany

Jörg Desel, Catholic University of Eichstätt-Ingolstadt, Germany

Jörg Evermann, Victoria University Wellington, New Zealand

Ulrich Frank, University of Duisburg-Essen, Germany

David C. Hay, Essential Strategies, Inc., USA

Ekkart Kindler, University of Paderborn, Germany

Stefan Kirn, University of Hohenheim, Germany

Helmut Krcmar, Technische Universität München, Germany

Susanne Leist, University of Regensburg, Germany

Vojislav B. Mišić, University of Manitoba, Canada

Daniel Moody, University of Iceland, Iceland

Markus Nüttgens, University of Hamburg, Germany

Andreas Opdahl, University of Bergen, Norway

Jeffrey Parsons, Memorial University of Newfoundland, Canada

Geert Poels, Ghent University, Belgium

Peter Rittgen, University College of Borås, Sweden

Michael Rosemann, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Reinhard Schütte, Dohle Handelsgruppe GmbH & Co. KG, Germany

Klaus Turowski, University of Augsburg, Germany

Jean-Paul Van Belle, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Wil van der Aalst, Queensland University of Technology, Australia, & Eindhoven University of Technology, The Netherlands

Robert Winter, University of St. Gallen, Switzerland

Boris Wyssusek, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Special thanks goes to David Hay, who provided an interesting foreword for our book. Furthermore, Idea Group Inc., especially our development editor, Kristin Roth, who gave us excellent support while preparing this book. Last, but not least, we would like to thank all authors, including those whose work could not be included in this book, for their interest in, and support for, our project.

Peter Fettke & Peter Loos