

Acknowledgments

I wish to recognize contributions made by the reviewers and associate editors in bringing this scholarly book to fruition. I thank them for diligently and professionally reviewing the manuscripts included in this volume. My thanks go to the authors for being highly responsive to reviewers' and associate editors' comments and promptly meeting the deadline imposed on them. They have made outstanding contributions to this volume.

I express my special thanks to Hettie Houghton in the Department of Information and Decision Sciences at the University of Texas at El Paso. She was extremely diligent in keeping the project on track. Her effort toward the project is truly appreciated. I also want to thank Jan Travers for her help with the project.

M. Adam Mahmood
University of Texas at El Paso, USA