Acknowledgment

To all the authors who contributed to this book for their commitment and enthusiasm throughout the publication process.

To our team of reviewers who read every article carefully and made skillful suggestions to the benefit of the whole volume.

To the members of the Editorial Advisory Board for their dedication and availability during the key stages of the handbook.

To Mike Smith and David Wiley for agreeing to share their thoughts and wisdom.

For the valuable support of the Knowledge Media Institute at the Open University – United Kingdom

And finally, we would like to thank our colleagues and partners for their patience and understanding over the past few months.

This book is dedicated to all those who contribute to the open content movement.
