

Acknowledgment

I would like to thank the God that graced and protected my steps towards who I am. It is not a career position, nor is it a set of accomplishments. It is instead a sense of inner satisfaction and a tranquil pride of who I have become.

I would like to also thank my husband, and soul-mate, Sh Nawaf bin Ebrahim Alkhalifa. Thank you for continually reminding me of the capacity of my brain cells, and for continually challenging them with ideas, dreams, and plans.

I would also like to thank my two teenage sons, Ebrahim and Mohamed. They are a perfect example of everything a mother wants in her sons.

I would also like to thank all the scholars who contributed to this book for their patience with the constant nagging to meet deadline. Without YOU, there would be no great edited book like this one.

I can only thank some people with warm tears and gentle smiles but words cannot express me. To the greatest mother and father any one could have, I hope I will make you always proud. To my financial and mental supporters: Khalid and Abdullah, I hope I will be able to pay you back!

To my little brother and sisters: Mansoor, Amara, AlAnood, and Arwa, you are the joy of my life. To my beloved friends: Asila, Batool, and Zeina, you supported me in ways you yourselves do not realize, and I hope I will always do the same. To the person who strengthened me to rise up to the challenge: Mr. Parsa Zoqaqi, you are one blessing I thank God for.

To the person who believed in me and implanted hope, patience, and persistence in my soul: Dr. Eshaa Al Khalifa, thank you for guidance, time, efforts, and patience. To the person who was the reason I wanted to challenge myself, thank you. And to all who cooperated with us to make this project a success, thank you! May Allah bless this work and may praise be to Allah.

Eshaa Mohamed Alkhalifa
Royal University for Women, Bahrain

Khulood Gaid
Royal University for Women, Bahrain