

Acknowledgments

A book of this nature is indebted to a number of individuals and contributors. The editors would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book, without whose support the project could not have been successfully completed. Our sincerest thanks to Mrs. Aggeliki Kladi of Information Society S.A., who provided us with superb administrative support necessary to keep the project viable throughout its life.

Most of the chapter authors included in this book also served as referees for other chapter authors. We owe a tremendous amount of thanks to all those who provided constructive and comprehensive reviews. Special thanks also go to the publishing team at Idea Group Inc. whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception of the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable and in particular to Ms. Kristin Roth, who kept the rhythm of the project by guiding us through its various stages and reminding us, always nicely, of the many deadlines we missed.

Finally, special thanks go to our colleagues at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens and at the Athens University of Economics and Business for the time they invested in lengthy discussions resulting in much valuable input, ideas, and constructive criticism.

In closing, we wish to thank all of the authors for their insights and excellent contributions to this book.
