We are indebted to the editorial staff of IGI Global for offering us the opportunity to edit this book focusing on theoretical and scientific aspects of open innovation regarding small and medium enterprises. We are also grateful to Editorial Advisory Board Members and all contributing Authors of this book for their support, cooperation, contribution and collaboration. Our indebtedness extends to all Reviewers, especially Matthew C. Heim, Amiram Porath, and Simona Mihai Yiannaki for their extended support during the tiring review process.

We would not have completed this work unless continuous support came from our family members.

Finally, our regards to the colleagues at the Department of Information Systems of the University, especially João Alvaro Carvalho without whom we could not able to complete this research publication.
