

Acknowledgment

Particular thanks are due to Dr Rick Swindell; without his involvement this book would not have been completed in time and would not be of such high quality. Rick worked with several authors to guide them in polishing their chapters and assisted speakers of other languages with some of the challenges of writing in English. He undertook most of the day-to-day liaison with the publishers and with each of the authors to keep us all on track with deadlines and quality standards.

Particular thanks are also due to Jan Heffernan who worked tirelessly on helping us to enhance the overall quality of the book.

Philip would like to give special thanks to his wife Dr Sandy Tse for her support during the project activities in the past 12 months. As his writing and editing project comes to completion, Philip promises to catch up on his share of babysitting Jenny who recently turned 18 months old. Jenny is a joy and a gift to us. This project has also benefited from the research grants (06/21) (R189-2)(ST-08/09-2) from The Open University of Hong Kong and (HK-R1209) from the Johnson & Johnson. For these, Philip wants to thank both the OUHK & Johnson and Johnson research committees.
