End–User Computing: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Steve Clarke
University of Hull, UK
Related Content

Cross-Cultural Teamwork in End User Computing: A Theoretical Model
www.igi-global.com/article/cross-cultural-teamwork-end-user/55720?camid=4v1a

Are Web Designers Resisting the Inclusion of Social Cues when Creating Website’s User Interface?
www.igi-global.com/chapter/web-designers-resisting-inclusion-social/62125?camid=4v1a

Open Learner Modelling as the Keystone of the Next Generation of Adaptive Learning Environments
www.igi-global.com/chapter/open-learner-modelling-keystone-next/24481?camid=4v1a

The Place of User Enhanceability in User-Oriented Software Development
www.igi-global.com/article/place-user-enhanceability-user-oriented/55749?camid=4v1a