End−User Computing: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Steve Clarke

University of Hull, UK
Related Content

Perceptions of End Users on the Requirements in Personal Firewall Software: An Exploratory Study www.igi-global.com/chapter/perceptions-end-users-requirements-personal/7036?camid=4v1a

Does Technology Trust Substitute Interpersonal Trust?: Examining Technology Trust’s Influence on Individual Decision-Making Xin Li, Guang Rong and Jason Bennett Thatcher (2012). Journal of Organizational and End User Computing (pp. 18-38).
www.igi-global.com/article/does-technology-trust-substitute-interpersonal/65093?camid=4v1a

The Role of End User in E-Government Application Development: A Conceptual Model in the Agricultural Context www.igi-global.com/article/role-end-user-government-application/68024?camid=4v1a

Explaining Cyberloafing through a Theoretical Integration of Theory of Interpersonal Behavior and Theory of Organizational Justice