Global Information Technologies: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Felix B. Tan
Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand
Related Content

A Study of the Attitudes of Indonesian Managers Toward Key Factors in Information System Development and Implementation www.igi-global.com/article/study-attitudes-indonesian-managers-toward/51313?camid=4v1a

Software Confederation - An Architecture for Global Systems and Global Management www.igi-global.com/chapter/software-confederation-architecture-global-systems/19009?camid=4v1a

Social Construction of Information Technology Supporting Work
www.igi-global.com/chapter/social-construction-information-technology-supporting/6310?camid=4v1a

Library Networking of the Universidad de Oriente: A Case Study of Introduction of Information Technology www.igi-global.com/chapter/library-networking-universidad-oriente/6322?camid=4v1a