Global Information Technologies: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Felix B. Tan
Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand
Related Content

A Research Manifesto for Global Information Management
www.igi-global.com/article/research-manifesto-global-information-management/51332?camid=4v1a

A Preliminary Classification of Usage Measures in Information System Acceptance: A Q-Sort Approach www.igi-global.com/chapter/preliminary-classification-usage-measures-information/73580?camid=4v1a

Creating Value with Regional Communities of SMEs
www.igi-global.com/chapter/creating-value-regional-communities-smes/19099?camid=4v1a

A Multicultural Analysis of Factors Influencing Career Choice for Women in the Information Technology Workforce www.igi-global.com/article/multicultural-analysis-factors-influencing-career/3676?camid=4v1a