Critical Research on Sexism and Racism in STEM Fields

Part of the Advances in Religious and Cultural Studies Book Series

Ursula Thomas (Georgia Perimeter College, USA) and Jill Drake (University of West Georgia, USA)

Description:

Despite a higher percentage of women entering various STEM fields, issues of discrimination and stereotyping continue to exist. These difficulties create a potential hostile environment and a noticeable gap in opportunities, advancements, and compensation increases in comparison to their male counterparts.

Critical Research on Sexism and Racism in STEM Fields investigates the bias, stereotyping, and repression experienced by women within STEM-based career fields. Emphasizes the struggle felt by women within politics, education systems, business environments, STEM careers, as well as issues with advocacy and leadership.

Readers:

This publication benefits professionals, social activists, researchers, academics, managers, and practitioners interested in the institutionalized discrimination and prejudice women encounter in various fields.
