Technology holds the key to unlocking a well-rounded and culturally-rich educational experience.

The Culture and Diversity in Education collection includes 17 titles on various topics related to education, including adult learning, applied e-learning, blended and mobile learning, computer-assisted language learning, distance education, engineering education, gender and technology, instructional design, virtual learning environments, web-based teaching and learning, and many more. It is a valuable resource for faculty, administrators, and researchers interested in introducing culture and diversity to current educational programs.

Three Convenient Purchasing Options:

- Print: $2,150
  - Regular List Price: $2,870
  - 978-1-4666-2128-2

- E-Book: $3,220
  - Regular List Price: $4,295
  - 978-1-4666-2129-9

- Print/E-Book: $4,305
  - Regular List Price: $5,740
  - 978-1-4666-2130-5

*E-book access is available on a perpetual basis and includes all features of IGI Global’s advanced platform. To learn more about IGI Global’s platform, visit www.igi-global.com/resources.

Free Access: www.igi-global.com/collections

For all order inquiries, please contact: cust@igi-global.com
New Markets for Universities
Emmanuel Jean Francois (University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA), et al.
Serves as a valued resource for faculty, administrators, and leaders in postsecondary institutions to plan, develop, implement, and evaluate blended learning programs and courses.

E-Portfolios and Global Diffusion: Solutions for Collaborative Education
Darren Cambridge (George Mason University, USA), et al.
Innovative chapters on real world business uses, educational experiences, and ideal design, this book fills a major gap in current literature concerning Web 2.0 applications.

New Media Communication Skills for Engineers and IT Professionals: Trans-National and Trans-Cultural Demands
Arun Patil (CQUniversity, Australia), et al.
Gives insights into the proficient use of a broad range of communicative tools that promote equitable learning outcomes for targeted learners by digitized communication environments.

Technologies for Enhancing Pedagogy, Engagement, and Empowerment in Education: Creating Learning-Friendly Environments
Thao Lê (University of Tasmania, Australia), et al.
Places educational technologies appropriately in their social and cultural contexts; and reflects upon evaluating and implementing changes in the field.

Transnational Distance Learning and Building New Markets for Universities
Robert Hogan (University of the South Pacific, Fiji), et al.
The purpose of the book is to review how to reach emerging international markets, increase access to education, and to do so at a profit.

Cases on Globalized and Culturally Appropriate E-Learning: Challenges and Solutions
Andrea Edmundson (eWorldLearning Inc., USA), et al.
Shares contemporary knowledge on how to adapt or develop e-learning that promotes equitable learning outcomes for targeted learners by addressing interdependent disciplines.

Gender Issues in Learning and Working with Information Technology: Social Constructs and Cultural Contexts
Shirley Booth (University of Witwatersrand, South Africa and University of Gothenburg, Sweden), et al.
This unique reference source brings to light gender relations and IT, examining them in a multidimensional way.

Multiliteracies and Technology Enhanced Education: Social Practice and the Global Classroom
Darren L. Pullen (University of Tasmania, Australia), et al.
Features theoretical reflections and approaches on the use of multiliteracies and technologies in the improvement of education and social practices.

Instructional Design Frameworks and Intercultural Models
Patricia A. Young(University of Maryland, USA), et al.
Offers practical applications for the construction of user interfaces, products, services, and other online environments useful in the development of culture-based designs.

Methods and Applications for Advancing Distance Education Technologies: International Issues and Solutions
Mahbubur Syed (Minnnesota State University, USA), et al.
Assists academicians, practitioners, and researchers in finding answers to important issues needing addressed for a successful distance education.

Cases on Global E-Learning Practices: Successes and Pitfalls
Ramesh C. Sharma (Indira Gandhi National Open University), et al.
Looks into global practices of e-learning, examining the successes and failures of e-learning professionals. It provides a judicious mix of practical experiences and research in the form of case studies.

Globalized E-Learning Cultural Challenges
Andrea Edmundson (eWorldLearning, USA), et al.
Explores the issues educators, administrators, and instructional designers face when transferring knowledge and skills to other cultures through e-learning.

Learning Culture and Language through ICTs: Methods for Enhanced Instruction
Maiga Chang (Athabasca University, Canada), et al.
Offers students, instructors, and researchers an authoritative reference to the current progress of language and cultural e-learning.

Distinctive Distance Education Design: Models for Differentiated Instruction
Richard G. Fuller (Robert Morris University, USA), et al.
Gathers the traditional models of teaching and learning and presents them in a way that is useful to both new and experienced online teachers in a manner that can assist in increasing the overall effectiveness of online courses and training sessions and provide a greater impact for both the teacher and the learner.