

JOURNAL OF ORGANIZATIONAL AND END USER COMPUTING

July-September 2012, Vol. 24, No. 3

Table of Contents

SPECIAL ISSUE ON CITIZEN CENTRIC PERSPECTIVES ON ELECTRONIC GOVERNMENT: RESEARCH TRENDS, ISSUES, AND CHALLENGES

GUEST EDITORIAL PREFACE

- i    Vikas Jain, The University of Tampa, USA
      Yogesh K. Dwivedi, Swansea University, UK
      Vishanth Weerakkody, Brunel University, UK
      Peter Blakey, Massey University, New Zealand

RESEARCH ARTICLES

- 1    Internet Voting Usefulness: An Empirical Analysis of Trust, Convenience and Accessibility
      Lemuria Carter, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, USA
      Ronald L. Campbell, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, USA
- 18   Developing an Instrument for E-Public Services' Acceptance Using Confirmatory
      Factor Analysis: Middle East Context
      Ahmed Alzahrani, King Saud University, Saudi Arabia
      Bernd Stahl, De Montfort University, UK
      Mary Prior, De Montfort University, UK
- 45   Inhibitors and Enablers of Public E-Services in Lebanon
      Antoine Harfouche, University of Tours, France
      Alice Robbin, Indiana University Bloomington, USA
- 69   The Role of End User in E-Government Application Development: A Conceptual
      Model in the Agricultural Context
      Shah Jahan Miah, University of the Sunshine Coast, Australia