Chapter 7

The Problems That School Administrators and Syrian Teachers Encounter During the Educational Process of Syrian Refugee Children: Ankara–Altındağ Example

Şefika Şule Erçetin
Lancaster University, UK

Nihan Potas
Gazi University, Turkey

Şuay Nilhan Açıkalın
Lancaster University, UK

ABSTRACT

The aim of the study is to determine the problems that school administrators and Syrian Teachers encounter during the educational process of Syrian Refugee Children continuing their education in basic education institutions Ankara-Altındağ province. So as to identify and diagnose in detail the views of the school administrators and Syrian teachers in basic education institutions regarding the problems they face while teaching Syrian refugee and asylum-seeking children, the research was designed using a qualitative pattern. Syrian teachers who migrated to Turkey from Syria

DOI: 10.4018/978-1-5225-3325-2.ch007

Copyright © 2018, IGI Global. Copying or distributing in print or electronic forms without written permission of IGI Global is prohibited.
The Problems That Administrators and Teachers Encounter

Introduction

The issue of immigration, together with globalization, is among the very first agenda items of developed and developing countries, in particular the ones facing waves of immigration. Even though it has been experienced for so long that humans have to leave behind their houses, homelands due to a fair number of reasons such as natural disasters or the ones caused by other humans and wars, the fact that international society’s concentrating upon this notion is a relatively novel situation.

Almost all the countries around the world have been affected by immigrations especially during the second half of this century and immigrant population has been on the increase. This is apparent particularly when United Nations’ estimated data pertaining to immigrant population is analyzed: on the condition that it continues to rise maintaining its existing speed of the last 20 years, it is presumed that international immigrant population will reach 405 million people in 2050 (Turkish Republic Ministry of Internal Affairs Immigration Directorate General “2015 Turkey Immigration Report”, n.d.).

Being an indispensable part of all the norms of law; education, constitutes a piece of every individual’s social and cultural development. It is stated in the 26th item of Universal Declaration of Human Rights that all people hold the right of education. Besides, according to the 22nd item of International Refugee Convention, it is underlined clearly that the countries are accountable for providing basic education, higher education and vocational education rights for refugees sheltering in their land. To this end, it is condemned that “apart from basic education, educational process of refugees will be carried out to their advantage as much as possible through accepting their diplomas/certificates of graduation obtained abroad and by exempting them from any kind of tuition fee. Also, it will be made possible for refugees to have access to scholarship opportunities available (Gündüz, 2016).

Since 2011, Turkey, hosting around 3 million of them, has been carrying out numerous policies for Syrians about issues ranging from accommodation to employment, from health to education.
The Personalized and Personal “Mass” Media – From “We-Broadcast” to “We-Chat”: Reflection on the Case of Bi Fujian Incident
Yu Zhang (2016). Defining Identity and the Changing Scope of Culture in the Digital Age (pp. 29-42).
www.igi-global.com/chapter/the-personalized-and-personal-mass-media--from-we-broadcast-to-we-chat/153202?camid=4v1a

Deliberation with Working College Students Influencing Civic Learning, Opinion Formation and Engagement
www.igi-global.com/article/deliberation-with-working-college-students-influencing-civic-learning-opinion-formation-and-engagement/142484?camid=4v1a