Global Information Technologies: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Felix B. Tan
Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand Related Content

ICT and Distance Learning for Agricultural Extension in Low Income Countries www.igi-global.com/chapter/ict-distance-learning-agricultural-extension/19119?camid=4v1a

Strategies for Virtual Learning and E-Entrepreneurship in Higher Education www.igi-global.com/chapter/strategies-virtual-learning-entrepreneurship-higher/8293?camid=4v1a

Transfer of Information Technology to the Arab World: A Test of Cultural Influence Modeling www.igi-global.com/chapter/transfer-information-technology-arab-world/4516?camid=4v1a

Optimizing Waiting Room Utilization in High Speed Railway Stations Based on an Information Integration Approach www.igi-global.com/article/optimizing-waiting-room-utilization-in-high-speed-railway-stations-based-on-an-information-integration-approach/201011?camid=4v1a